AWAIT VERDICT OF RADIO LISTENERS ON REALLOCATION

Status of New Plan Will Be Undetermined for Several More Weeks

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

New York (AP)—Listening radio-dom has had a taste of the wave-length reallocations. Whether it was bitter or sweet may require weeks and even months to decide.

Those fans whose sole delight is distance hunting and the others who depend largely upon local reception gradually are building up their station logs again and beginning to analyze the situation. Some have found it much to their liking, particularly in cases where both distance and local reception has improved. Others discovered flaws that only the practical application of a plan on paper could bring out.

One development to be expected was the absence of heterodynes or squeals in the background of stations assigned to clear channels. The heterodynes are due to overlapping wavelengths.

In the east, a strong whistle often was noticeable heretofore back of WYOR even to New York listeners. Under the reallocation this was gone as was the case with the slight whistle behind WJEF and WJZ and other powerful stations throughout the country that now occupy free wave spaces.

In laying out the new assignments on 96 channels, the radio commission cleared 40 of them. On 28 of these were put stations of high power with a clear right of way. On the other 12 were placed 24 stations required to divide time. In most cases no other stations occupy these channels, although occasionally another transmitter was granted a limited time or a daylight assignment thereon.

The remaining stations were put on regional or local channels, depending upon their power. Local stations, given six channels and 25 or more occupying each one, do not have more than 100 watts. The regional stations have greater power and from 5 to 10 of them are on each of 44 channels. Where the stations are in the same locality they are required to divide time.

The regional classifications are at both the top and bottom of the scale, with local stations only in the shorter wavelengths. The clear channels extend from 468.5 meters to 252 meters, inclusive, with an occasional regional channel in between. In the clear section are six channels assigned exclusively to Canada. Canada also shares six regional and two local channels.

It was in the regional and local channels with their great gathering of stations that most of the interference occurred. The quiet of the clear channels disappeared into a growl of heterodynes once the listener got away from them. Whistles could be heard behind almost every regional and local station, no matter its nearness to the receiver. In the regional section on the high waves reception was somewhat better than in the low waves.

Some difficulty was encountered in compiling new logs because of the infrequency of the announcement of call letters by some stations. This was particularly disconcerting in connection with distance.

An early survey of the new waves showed that the situation had been bettered by the clear channels, making the logging of more distance possible. In the other sections the improvement was not so apparent.

SERVICE GROCERS ARE ALMOST A YEAR OLD

Plans for observing the first anniversary of the organization were discussed at the meeting of the Service stores at the Wichman grocery store, College-ave, Tuesday evening. Arrangements also were made for the Thanksgiving special to be offered by the service stores. Ten stores were represented at the meeting.

Vestris Boats' Release Mechanism Called Faulty

To determine if the ship was in proper condition to go to sea on its last voyage.

An official of the line, who was present at the hearing, said he would produce such men, and Thursday was set for their testimony.

NEEDED REPAIRS

Testimony that the Vestris needed repairs for two years has been given by members of the crew.

United States inspectors reported that the British liner was seaworthy before she left on her last voyage, yet members of the crew told Federal Commissioner O'Neill Tuesday that various ports through which the sinking ship took water had been out of repairs.

The testimony was given by Gilbert Ford, chief fireman; Isaac James Scott, a saloon waiter, and Thomas Connor, head waiter in the first cabin.

Ford testified that the ash ejector valve in the stokehold shipped water and always had during rough weather. He said he tried to tighten the screws on the valve but they were rusty and had been that way throughout his two years service on the ship.

Officers of the Vestris previously had testified that water coming in through this pipe and other places in the coal bunkers contributed to the foundering of the vessel.

LEAK THROUGH DOOR

Scott and Connor told of a half door on the starboard side of the vessel, about 100 feet above water line, through which the water poured in such a stream after the ship started to list on Sunday night, 20 hours before she sank, that the bailing efforts of several men could not keep up with it. They testified that on previous trips when the weather was rough seas had been shipped through this door.

Scott said the water which came in through the door poured down into the coal bunkers through hatches which were not covered until Monday morning. The water was so deep in their quarters Sunday night, he said, that they could not use the lower berths.

He also told of being assigned to

AGED MAN'S INJURY RESULTS IN DEATH

H. A. Kemp Dies from Pneumonia Which Followed Accident in City Barns

H. A. Kemp, 79, superintendent of the Appleton Malt and Grain company for 25 years, died Tuesday morning. Mr. Kemp employed by the city, was injured about three weeks ago when he fell over a shovel handle at the city barns. His shoulder was dislocated and fractured and a week after the accident pneumonia developed.

Mr. Kemp came to Appleton from Chicago in 1890, and was superintendent of the Malt and Grain company until a few years ago.

Survivors are two sons, Charles Kemp of this city and Max of Milwaukee; three daughters, Mrs. Nick Cuda, Chicago; Mrs. William Bleier and Mrs. Charles Williams of Appleton; 16 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:45 Saturday afternoon at the home at 920 Superior-st., and at 2 o'clock at Zion Lutheran church, with the Rev. Theodore Marth in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

COUNCIL TO HEAR PLEAS FOR APPROPRIATIONS

Requests for a number of appropriations, including one from the Citizens Finance committee of the 120th Field Artillery band, will be made of the common council Wednesday evening.

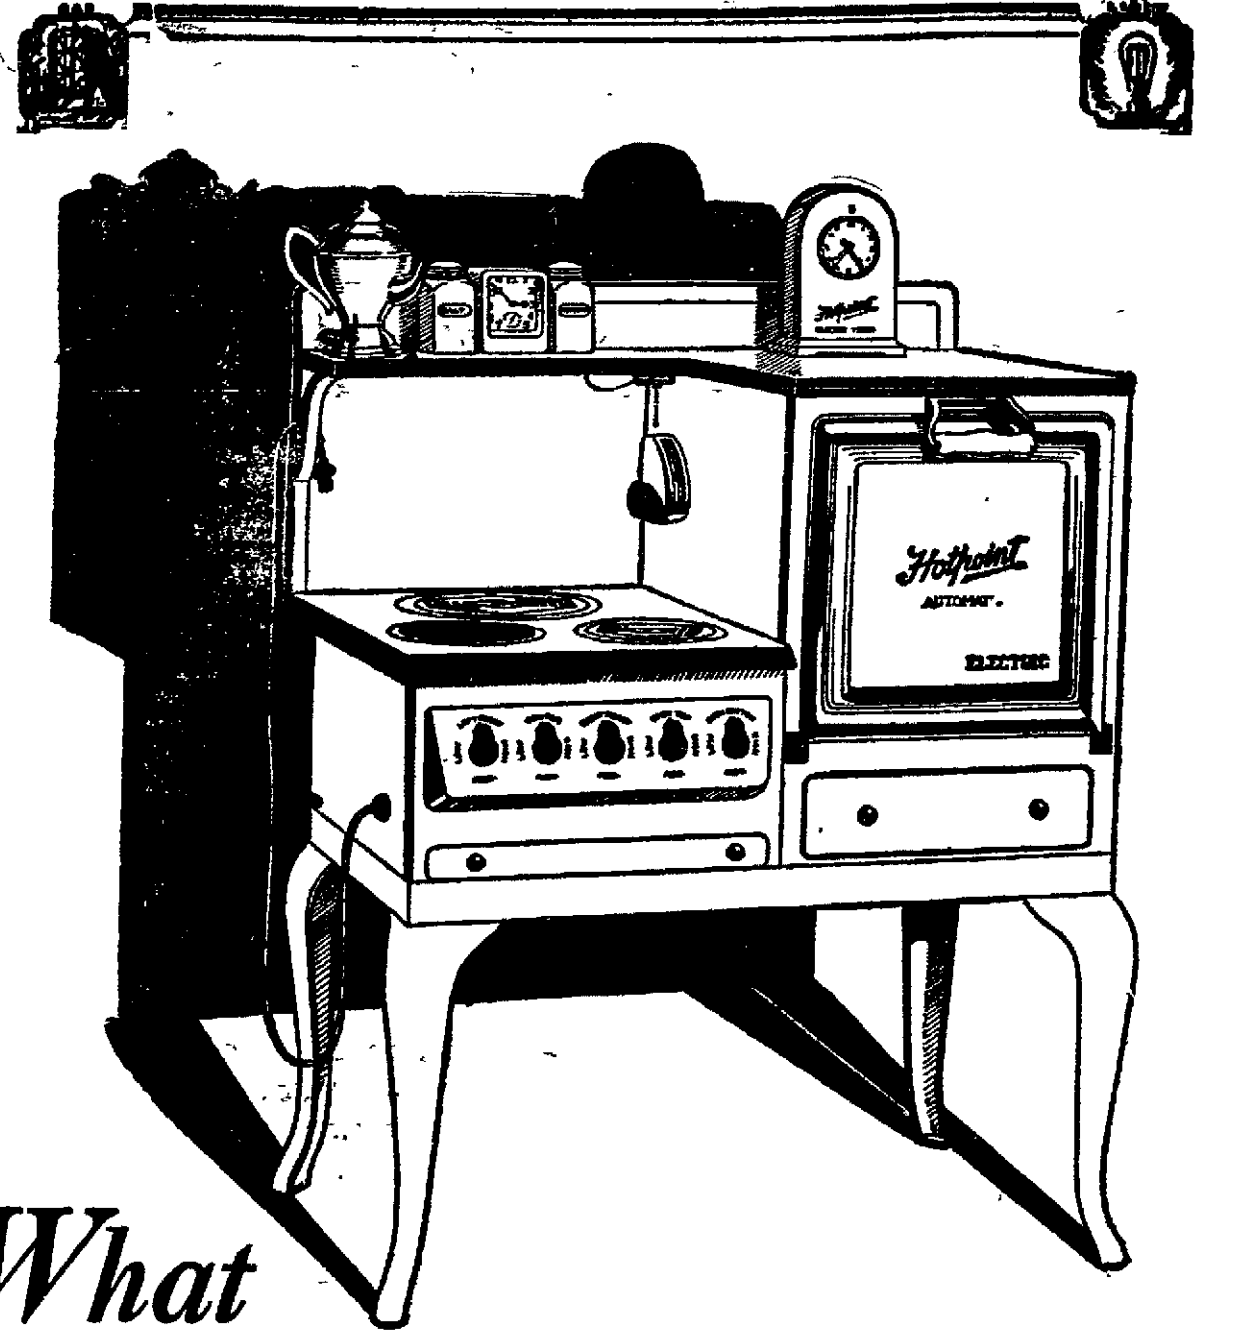

Although a number of the requests already have been presented in writing, several organizations plan to send committees or individuals to make their pleas to the council tonight. The council has been working on its budget for next year and will probably complete it in less than two weeks.

No outstanding business is expected to be presented for consideration. Outside of the usual bill and one or two minor reports of committees, there is nothing more on the city clerk's desk.

CHRISTIAN'S RISE IN ORGAN WORLD IS MOST OUTSTANDING

Noted Organist Will Dedicate
New Instrument at Congregational Church

The rapid rise of Palmer Christian, the noted American virtuoso, will dedicate the new organ at Congregational church Thursday evening, is one of the outstanding events of recent years in the world.

After a number of years of study in Chicago with Clarence Kinson, Mr. Christian went abroad, studying first in Leipzig and then in Berlin, where he studied with Karl Straube, organist of the famous St. Thomas church where he presided two centuries ago. Afterward at Paris with Alexander Guilmant. Upon his return to America, Mr. Christian occupied a position of importance in the musical world, serving as municipal organist of Denver two years. Since then he has been organist at the University of Michigan, and head of the organ department in the University School of Music.

In addition to an increasing record of recitals each season Palmer Christian has become pre-eminent among American organists through numerous and successful appearances with the foremost symphony orchestra of the country. Among his solo appearances have been at the Chicago, Detroit, Rochester, New York Symphonies, New York Philharmonic society and Philadelphia orchestra. He also has appeared as guest soloist before two national conventions of the National Association of Organists, the National Federation of Women's clubs, the National convention of Music Teachers.

A special honor was paid Mr. Christian when he was chosen to represent America in the extraordinary international organ-orchestra concert given in the New York Tammany auditorium before a distinguished audience of musicians. This occasion Italy was represented by the late Marco Enrico Bossi; France by Marcel Dupre; and Germany by Charles M. Courboin. Christian played Concerto in E-flat major by Eric De Lamarter, and acting as critic he fittingly upheld America's place in this historic concert.

FOND DU LAC VOTES CITY MANAGER FORM

Turns Down Proposed Change from Commission
by Three to One Vote.

Fond du Lac—(AP)—By a vote of more than three to one, the city of Fond du Lac, in a special election Tuesday defeated a movement to change the municipal government from the commission to the city manager form. The vote was 1,554 for the change and 4,957 against.

The election was held as a result of a petition filed by a large number of taxpayers asking that a manager be chosen by a council of 16 men elected by wards, to replace the present three man commission. It preceded a campaign that during the last two weeks was intense and led to forecasts of a large vote. The final total, however, was only slightly more than the 50 per cent of the registered voters.

The election Tuesday was the third held in the last 14 years. In 1914 the city changed from the aldermanic to the commission government. In 1921 an effort to revert to aldermanic form was beaten three to one.

ATTORNEY FOR COUNTY GETS
TWO HELPERS

$115,827 Is Appropriated by Supervisors at Tuesday's Session

Neenah—Resolutions appropriating $115,827.88, in addition to the amounts voted for salaries of the district attorney's assistants, were adopted at the Tuesday session of the Winnebago county board. The largest single appropriation was $70,750 for the common schools, a decrease in that source of approximately $18,000 compared to last year, due to a change in the state requirements.

A sum of $29,976.63, stated to be earnings of the county asylum that have been turned into the county treasury, was appropriated to the asylum fund for 1935. This amount was also $1,500 less than last year's appropriation.

By unanimous vote, the board appropriated $7,000 for the use of the soldiers' relief commission during 1935. A total of $3,000 was again appropriated for the traveling library. Oshkosh, Neenah and Menasha supervisors do not vote on this appropriation. For use of the public buildings committee in making necessary repairs to the jail and courthouse during 1935, a sum of $3,500 was appropriated; an appropriation of $1,000 was made for the use of the district attorney in the investigation of criminal cases. Other sums were authorized for clerks, typewriters, and other necessities about the county buildings.

The board at the Tuesday session, created two new offices, one a first assistant district attorney and the second a second assistant district attorney to become effective Jan. 1, 1935.

The first assistant will receive $1,800 as salary while the second assistant will receive $1,700. For these offices, District Attorney F. B. Keefe has selected Walter J. Peiri and Simon J. Horwitz. The assistants will attend to the "smaller" cases which might come up and give the district attorney more time on larger cases.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR NEW CITY BUILDING

Neenah—The committee on parks and public buildings of the city council, to which was referred the question of securing plans and prices for a new building to be erected east of the city hall, met Wednesday morning with an architect to make preliminary plans. The new building, which will be used for the fire department and possibly the police department, will provide room for housing waterworks department equipment. The plans will be submitted to the committee, and then to the council.

RED CROSS LEADER
TALKS TO ROTARIANS

Neenah—William Ross of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton, head of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, will be the speaker Thursday noon at the weekly lunch and meeting of the Rotary club at Valley Inn. COUNTY WORKHOUSE
TO BE ABANDONED

All Prisoners Will Be Sent to Jail Hereafter, Board Decides

Neenah—The Winnebago county workhouse will be abandoned after Jan. 1 and thereafter all prisoners will be sent to the Winnebago county jail. This was decided at the Tuesday afternoon session of the board of supervisors which adopted the resolution to abandon the county institution. Arrangements will be made, according to the resolution, to fence in part of the jail yard where the crushing of stone can be carried on by the prisoners. The workhouse as it now stands is expensive and inadequate, it was said.

SOCIETY

Neenah—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herrick will celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage Friday, Nov. 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Herrick, 206 Third St. The afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, will be devoted to receiving friends. A family dinner will be served at 6:30 followed by a family reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Herrick were married at Beloit.

Mrs. E. A. Meyer, Mrs. Otto Spude and Mrs. Ben Mettewick will entertain a large group of women Wednesday evening at a 6:30 dinner followed by bridge at Valley Inn.

The high school "N" club will entertain at a dancing party Friday evening at Kimberly high school gymnasium. The party is for high school pupils only.

DEATHS

JOHN HANSON

Neenah—John Hanson, 68, a resident of this city for the last 30 years, died at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning at Theda Clark hospital where he had been since last July receiving treatment following a paralytic stroke. Surviving are two children, Mrs. August Sell and Clara Hanson, both of Neenah. The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of the daughter on Higgins-ave. and at 2 o'clock from St. Paul English Lutheran church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Fritz. Burial will be at Oak Hill cemetery.

EMMER FUNERAL

Neenah—Funeral services for Joseph Emmer, formerly of Sheboygan who died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. August Sternhagen, at Appleton, will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning at Sacred Heart church at Sherwood and will be conducted by the Rev. Father Jacekela.

Mr. Emmer is survived by six sons, Joseph of High Cliff; Anton, Fred and Edward of Sherwood; John, Bryant; Frank, Kansas City; and three daughters, Mrs. Sternhagen, Mrs. Lottie Thiel and Mrs. Racey Frank, Appleton.

SCHIERL FUNERAL

Neenah—Funeral services for William Schierl, whose body was found in Fox river Sunday morning, will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Mary church and will be conducted by the Rev. John Hammel. Burial was in St. Mary cemetery.

FIREMEN NEED MORE MONEY,
COUNCIL TOLD

Resolution to Increase Pay of Fire Fighters Presented to Aldermen

Menasha—An ordinance providing for an increase of salaries for members of the fire department was introduced at the meeting of the common council Tuesday night and was followed by a lively discussion. It was brought out that local firemen were the lowest paid of any in the Fox river valley. Opposition it aroused was not so much that the aldermen were opposed to pay the department the average wage as it was its introduction at this time. Some of the aldermen argued that it should be held over until the adoption of the annual budget a few weeks later. They said it should reach the common council through a recommendation of the fire and police commission and not through any of the aldermen. Both Mayor Held and members of the common council made it plain that they were not opposed to the ordinance but to the channel through which it reached them. A vote was taken but before the result was announced by the clerk, a motion was made to reconsider it and carried.

Application for a soft drink license by Anton Eskopski at 410 Racine-st was turned down. A previous application a month ago received a similar fate. Mayor Held complimented the water and light committee for the installation of its electric time service at the municipal plant through which anyone in the city can have their office or clock at their residence regulated by electricity.

EXPLAINS MASTER CLOCK

According to Alderman Heckrodt who was called to explain the system it consists of a master clock at the power plant which is regulated by the running of the engine. The operation of the clock is not noticeable on an electric meter, and makes it possible for all who desire to have accurate time daily.

Mayor Held submitted a report on the former Second ward school building referred to him which he said had been sold to Alex. Domanski for $25 with the understanding that he was to clean up the property after it was removed. Upon the suggestion of Alderman Heckrodt it was decided to extend the time for calling for bids for the foundation of the improvements at the municipal plant until the next meeting, Dec. 3.

City Clerk John Jedwabny, Jr., and J. H. Kuester, superintendent of water and light, submitted reports on the utilities hearing before the interim legislative committee at Madison two weeks ago. Provision was made for them to attend the adjourned hearing at Madison on Nov. 26 with their expenses paid by the city.

Alderman Kolaszinski announced that complaints had come to him that operation of the stop signal on Third-st was interfering with the operation of radios in that part of the city. Mayor Held said it could be checked up very easily and that he would have the fire department attend to it.

ASKS ABOUT PLAYGROUND

Alderman Kolaszinski inquired if anything had been done relative to the Second ward playground proposition and was informed by Mayor

Held that he was waiting until the buildings were removed and the premises cleaned up before he took any further steps in the matter. For the information of the council Mayor Held called attention to the passage of the ordinance seeking approval of Racine-st passed at the previous meeting and the effect it had in the way of delaying matters when it was mailed to the board of supervisors. The resolution was passed and sent to the county board without Supervisor Schrage, who was working on a larger appropriation for the improvement of the street, being notified. His resolution at least delayed the passage of the appropriation. The mayor suggested that hereafter matters of that kind be taken up with the ward supervisor.

Alderman Brezniski called attention to a change that had been made to the approach of the sidewalk at the corner of Tayco and Main-st. In drawing his plans for the new pave-

They Traded Families

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heidelberger and their six children and Mr. and Mrs. William Brown and their five children were neighbors on farms near New Auburn, Wis. The parents, it seemed, couldn't get along, so each wife filed suit for divorce. The result: the families simply swapped husbands and homes. Mrs. Heidelberger taking her children to the home of William Brown, while Mrs. Brown took her brood of five and went to live with Mr. Heidelberger. Everybody seems satisfied and the husbands remain the best of friends. Above are Mrs. Brown and her five children. To the left, below, is Mr. Heidelberger.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold their semi-monthly meeting Thursday evening. It will be followed by a fish fry for members.

The ladies of Menasha club held the first of a series of four card parties Tuesday afternoon at the club-rooms. Bridge was played and the honors were won by Mrs. Willie, Mrs. Pankratz and Mrs. Hercher. Tea was served. Mrs. George Banta, Jr., was in charge and was assisted by Mrs. V. A. Brooks, Mrs. F. S. Durham, Mrs. Edward Hopfensperger, Mrs. K. F. Lawson, Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Mrs. W. H. Pierce, Mrs. W. H. Trilling and Mrs. John Strange.

Menasha Rotary club will entertain Menasha high school football team and coaches at dinner Wednesday.

City Engineer McMahon left out the approaches because of the changed traffic conditions and was criticized by some of the aldermen who claim there is now a step of more than 10 inches from the pavement to the sidewalk in front of the new theatre building. The engineer contended that automobile traffic demanded that all bumps be eliminated from pavements.

MORE PEOPLE GO TO CHURCH NOW

Membership and Number of Edifices Growing, Department Reports

Washington—(AP)—A general increase in church membership, and value of edifices in the decade ending in 1928 is reported by the Department of Commerce here for the state of Wisconsin.

The compilations reveal that while there were 1,162,032 members in 1918, church membership grew to 1,473,064 in 1928 for Wisconsin.

An increase from 4,573 church structures in 1918 to Wisconsin to 4,648 was negligible, but values increased materially. Wisconsin churches were valued at $39,704,623 in 1918, while a decade later the mark was set at $93,190,673. In line with church edifices, a slight increase in parsonages was noted from 1918 with 2,286 to 1928 with 2,607. The value increased greatly, jumping from $7,748,562 in 1918 to $16,033,123 a decade later.

Sunday school generally fell off, the department figures reveal. In 1918, there were 3,662 such schools in Wisconsin, the report says, while in 1928 there were only 3,291. While there was an increase from 31,000 to 32,805 teachers, scholars fell from 223,965 in 1918 to 210,540 in 1928.

In regard to the figures, the department says:

"The report for 1918 included statistics for 84 denominations, 14 of which are not shown in the 1928 census. Some have joined other denominations and their statistics are included in them, while others are out of existence."

The value of church edifices represents the value of the buildings together with the land on which it stands and all furniture, organs, and furnishings owned in the church, the commerce department explains.

There is an increase from 84 to 95 religious bodies in Wisconsin for the decade ending in 1928, the report says.

541 PUPILS EXAMINED BY NURSE LAST MONTH

A total of 541 pupils from 18 schools received complete or partial examinations from the county nurse, according to the monthly report of Miss Marie Klein, nurse. Of this number, 482 were given complete examinations and 59 received partial examinations. Ten individual conferences were held with students.

Eleven children were excluded from school, 22 notices were sent to parents, 18 class room talks were given, 35 talks were given to groups of parents at schools, one culture was taken, and first aid treatment was rendered five times.

Of the 541 children examined, 113 were found to have poor teeth and 44 had defective tonsils. Eleven cases of pediculosis were found and two cases of poor vision were disclosed.

SUPPLY IS ORDERED OF NEW STAMP ISSUE

A supply of the new 2 and 5-cent commemorative stamps, issued by the federal postal department in connection with the International Civil Aeronautics conference called by President Coolidge for Dec. 12, 13 and 14 at Washington, D. C., has been ordered by F. F. Wittengel, acting postmaster of the local post-office.

The new stamps are of the same size and shape as the special delivery stamps. The 2-cent stamp is to be printed in red ink and the 5-cent stamp is blue ink. At the top is a dark border panel with the wording "U. S. Postage" in white Roman lettering; a small scroll at each end; under the panel in small Roman lettering the words, "International Civil Aeronautics Conference"; on either side of the stamp are narrow border panels; within the borders are shown on the left the Washington monument and the United States Capitol on the right. In the center is a picture of the first Wright brothers airplane.

The stamp will first be placed on sale at Washington, D. C., on Dec. 12 and as soon after as possible in local offices throughout the country.

BARBERS AGAIN IN STATE LEGISLATURE

Wausau—(AP)—The "line" of legislative Barbers is to be renewed in the 1929 session of the state senate and assembly.

Dr. Joseph L. Barber, Marathon, Wis., is to make further legislative records for the Barber family.

Mildred Barber, one of the three women members in the session of 1925, and daughter of Dr. Barber, was recently married to Otto Abel of Antigo. She attained considerable prominence in the 1925 session by introduction of an amendment to the marriage laws requiring a physical examination for women as well as for men applying for marriage licenses in Wisconsin.

Her father was a state senator from the Marathon-Lincoln counties district at the same time she was in the assembly.

Miss Barber was defeated for re-nomination in 1926 and at the time her father lost his fight for his senate seat. This year the father was elected to the same seat in the assembly that was held by his father two sessions back.

CITY WOULD DROP ITS 10 O'CLOCK ORDINANCE

Holland, Mich.—(AP)—Bowling devotees here are likely to overthrow at least one of the city's ordinances. At present there is a city ordinance which provides that billiard halls, bowling alleys and the like must close at 10 o'clock in the evening. Several hundred citizens sent a petition to the city council asking that the ordinance be changed to make Holland an 11, rather than a 10 o'clock town. Bowling is the reason.

SCIENTISTS TO GIVE RESULT OF STUDIES

40 Papers Will Be Read at Meeting of National Academy of Sciences

Schenectady, N. Y.—(AP)—The results of a number of investigations undertaken to increase man's understanding of the fundamentals of various phenomena in the fields of physics, chemistry, biology and geology will be given to the world at the autumn meeting here, November 19-21, of the National Academy of Sciences.

About 40 papers will be read by leading workers in these and other fields of research. They will be the guests of Union College.

Dr. Dayton C. Miller, noted physicist of the Case School of Applied Science at Cleveland, whose findings in ether drift experiments, differing from those of Dr. A. A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, have attracted world wide attention because of their bearing on the Einstein theory of relativity, will present a contribution to the knowledge of acoustics. These experiments have to do with the normal velocity of sound in free air.

Dr. J. D. Fear of the General Electric Laboratories here will explain his most recent findings relating to the development of electro magnetic compass systems for aircraft, and Dr. E. F. W. Alexander of the same company will tell of work on methods to determine the height of airplanes above the ground by means of radio echo.

Preliminary studies of combustion in the explosion type of engines will be reported by Dr. C. F. Kettering of the General Motors company.

Studies undertaken at the Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., laboratory of the department of genetics of Carnegie Institution of Washington to ascertain whether mentality differences between the races have a biological basis will be described by its director, Dr. C. B. Davenport. Progress in astronomical research will be outlined by Mrs. H. N. Russell of Princeton and Harlow Shapley of Harvard.

"IT'S WONDERFUL STATES FOREMAN OF CITY AIRPORT

"If Anybody Wants To Know What I Think About Sargon Just Send Them To See Me."

"If anybody wants to know what I think about Sargon just send them to see me," said August Gentilla, residing at 1325 30th St., Milwaukee, in telling the Sargon representative of his wonderful restoration to health a few days ago. Mr. Gentilla is well known in Milwaukee, where he has been a City employee for the past fifteen years. He is now City Foreman of the Maitland Airport Improvement.

"If there is anybody on earth who ought to feel grateful to Sargon it's me," he continued. "It's just wonderful what this medicine has done for me."

"For five years I suffered from stomach trouble, and here of late I have been in a dreadfully rundown condition. I think my troubles started with an inactive liver. First it was constipation; then I began to suffer from indigestion. Nearly always after pains in my side. I had frequent headaches, and felt weak, tired and worn out nearly all the time. I lost my old-time strength and energy, and was beginning to think my condition would develop into something really serious, for every day I seemed to be getting worse."

"I heard about the good Sargon was doing others who were in the same condition I was in, so I decided to put it to the test in my case. I was delighted with the results from my first bottle, and I realized I had found the right medicine. Now, after taking six bottles I am like a brand new man."

"The indigestion, gas, constipation and other troubles have been overcome. I never have a headache now, and am no longer troubled with constipation. My old-time strength and energy have come back to me, and I'm in better shape in every way. Others in my family are also taking Sargon with splendid results. I have made up my mind never to be without a bottle of this wonderful medicine in my house."

"I want to also say that Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the finest laxative I have ever found. There's nothing about them to make you sick, or upset you in the least, yet they do their work thoroughly."

Sargon may be obtained in Appleton from Voigt's Drug Store.

SEAL SALE WILL START ON NOV. 28

Campaign Will Be Conducted by Mail Except for Few Solicitations

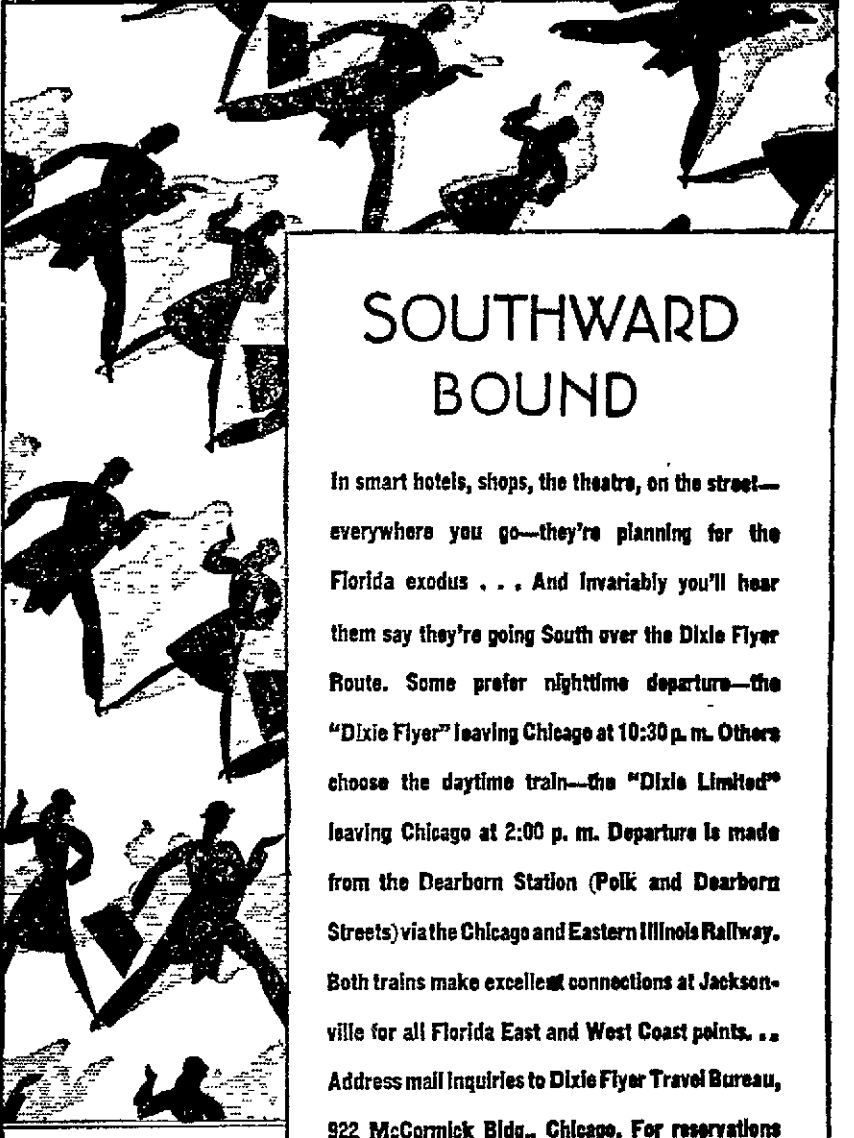

The annual sale of Christmas seals, under auspices of the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis association, will begin in Appleton on Nov. 28, according to Mrs. S. C. Shannon, chairman of the Appleton seal sale. Mrs. Shannon, representing the Appleton Woman's club, was appointed chairman at the annual W. A. T. A. meeting in Milwaukee Oct. 9.

With the exception of a few of the larger solicitations, the entire sale will be conducted by mail, and all seals will be sent out the day before Thanksgiving. No quota has been assigned to Appleton, but a city of this size is expected to raise about $2,500. Last year seals amounting to $1,800 were sold. Last year's sale showed a definite increase over

ROBERT BURNS CLUB TO HEAR TALK BY INGLER

F. M. Ingler will be the principal speaker at the annual celebration of St. Andrews day by the Robert Burns club at 6:30 Friday evening, Nov. 30, at Hotel Northern. His topic will be Scotchmen in the History of America. It is expected about 175 people from throughout the Fox river valley and other sections of Wisconsin will be present at the meeting, which is to open with a banquet at 6:30 in the evening. A short business meeting will follow the banquet after which the evening is to be spent socially. A committee is in charge of arrangements. Dancing and cards will feature entertainment.

The number sold the year before, so it is hoped that this year the proceeds will reach the $2,500 mark. As usual, one-half of the money raised will be used in Appleton for the promotion of health work, and one-half will be sent to the W. A. T. A. to be used in its health program.

SOUTHWARD BOUND

In smart hotels, shops, the theatre, on the street—everywhere you go—they're planning for the Florida exodus... And invariably you'll hear them say they're going South over the Dixie Flyer Route. Some prefer nighttime departure—the "Dixie Flyer" leaving Chicago at 10:30 p. m. Others choose the daytime train—the "Dixie Limited" leaving Chicago at 2:00 p. m. Departure is made from the Dearborn Station (Polk and Dearborn Streets) via the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway. Both trains make excellent connections at Jacksonville for all Florida East and West Coast points... Address mail inquiries to Dixie Flyer Travel Bureau, 922 McCormick Bldg., Chicago. NEW SUPPORT FOR WATERWAY Great significance attaches to the news from Toronto that Senator William L. McDougald, Montreal Harbor commission chairman and one of the chief powers behind the King government of Canada in the province of Quebec, is enthusiastically supporting the St. Lawrence seaway. So far as Americans are aware, the most formidable opposition to the seaway is concentrated at Montreal, which has taken the position that its importance as a port of shipment would be severely weakened by the extension of ocean traffic to Great lake ports. But Toronto, on the other hand, is one of the leading seaway proponents among Canadian cities.

Senator McDougald is quoted as saying that Montreal is not now opposed to the St. Lawrence seaway. He believes this waterway would benefit Montreal's harbor business, whereas should an all-American route be constructed it would do irreparable damage to that port. During his visit to Toronto in support of the project, McDougald dwelt upon the tremendous commercial and industrial benefits that would accrue to Canada through participation in the waterway undertaking.

Among the bugaboos that the head of the Montreal Harbor commission sought to dispel was the fear of "American aggression." This fear rests upon the fact that from the time the proposed ship channel leaves the lakes head until it reaches the Welland canal it runs almost entirely through United States waters. The political risks of this joint enterprise, if there are risks, are fifty-fifty.

In the event of war neither nation would control the entire waterway except by invasion and force. Granting that we have the superior force, we do not believe there is a single American citizen who has the remotest idea it will ever be used. Our confidence in perpetual peace with Canada goes as far as it is possible for human confidence to go. No one can see the slightest excuse for war so long as the two nations exist. This is not optimism; it is common sense. If Canadians have a contrary feeling, it must be solely because they do not understand American policy. We should say the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway entails no political consequences whatsoever except to unite more closely the two countries, which is something both should desire.

If Montreal is converted to approval of the St. Lawrence seaway, practically the only remaining opposition of consequence is from certain of the transcontinental railroads. It is altogether unlikely that, influential as these railroads may be in certain places, they could prevent consummation of the project. Inasmuch as the incoming Hoover administration is committed to aggressive measures for the authorization and building of this great public work, it probably is not too much to expect that it is very near at hand. The straws indicate a fading out of Canadian distrust and opposition.

AN UN-AMERICAN ORGANIZATION

The decision of the United States supreme court which paints the Ku Klux Klan in effect as an undesirable organization will have an excellent effect throughout the country. While its decision applies only to the state of New York, upholding the validity of an anti-Klan law, it promises to rid that state of this organization, and this should encourage active opposition in other states. Furthermore, it should discredit once and for all the Ku Klux Klan in the minds of citizens everywhere who have been inclined to favor or excuse it.

That the Ku Klux Klan was basically wrong in its origin was apparent from the beginning. That it was a vicious ingredient in our social and political life was speedily proven by its many acts of reprisal and violence, culminating in a drive for political power that challenged the power of the government itself. It is the most un-American of any organization we have. Today it is involved in corruption and scandal in practically every state. It is one of those peculiar manifestations of popular protest and fanaticism that shows phenomenal growth for a time, commits suicide by its excesses, declines and vanishes. There is no place for such movements in the American system. The decision of the supreme court cannot fail to hasten the finish of the Klan and its demobilization.

BRITISH ARE TOO HASTY

The British press is taking the Vestris investigation at New York very hard. London newspapers resented it even before it was started, and now they are asserting that it is a carefully calculated proceeding to discredit English shipping and give it a black eye in order to promote the interests of American steamship companies. They object to the methods employed by the district attorney, holding they are prejudiced and unfair. In point of fact the methods are necessary to draw the truth from unwilling witnesses.

The British press is a bit hasty. It is making assumptions it does not know anything about. American justice does not rest on the foundations this premature criticism implies. It is not very pleasant to have it charged that the government of the United States is linking itself to a scheme to make capital out of the Vestris disaster for its own benefit. It is a gratuitous aspersion, with nothing to warrant it, in fact or in precedent.

The investigation at New York is to try and determine if possible who and what are responsible for a sea horror that everyone knows could have been averted. It is trying to solve some of the mysteries of the inexplicable handling of a ship doomed almost an entire day before the SOS was sent out. It is trying to get at the bottom of the policies of steamship companies in the navigation of their ships, of the efficacy of inspection service, the adequacy of life saving equipment, the exact extent to which the lives of passengers and crews on ocean-going vessels are safeguarded.

It will do no good for the British press to sneer at the proceeding. It is eminently justified from every standpoint. That efforts, undoubtedly of alien origin, are being made to obstruct the investigation is shown by the demeanor of witnesses. However, the district attorney should, and we have no doubt will, go to the end undeterred by foreign criticism until every circumstance in connection with this inexcusable tragedy is disclosed.

COWS FOR OUR SCHOOLS

A few years ago educational leaders in New York city discovered that many children in the public schools had never seen a cow. The situation was regarded as dreadful, and a cow was duly installed at the Bronx zoo.

Now Cleveland educators have discovered the same sorry lack in their own community. One of the elementary schools first appealed to headquarters for help because the pupils in the building had never seen a cow. There was much telephoning to and fro, frantic appeal to the departments of publications and of city parks and finally to the local zoo.

"We have monkeys, and we have foxes and a lot of seals," said the lion feeder at the zoo, "and a large assortment of birds and a very insolent porcupine, and cockatoos and snakes and lions and tigers and leopards and sacred buffaloes. But as to cows, I am sorry to report that we have no cows."

It is quite the thing, these days, in many school systems, to take groups of children to museums and factories and important public buildings to behold there the wonders of science, discovery, manufacturing and architecture. Why not start taking city children on sight-seeing trips to farms to show them cows, pigs, sheep, chickens, vegetables growing in gardens instead of tin cans, plows turning up rich earth, and a lot of other interesting and instructive creatures and activities?

It might be a little hard on the farms, just at first, but it would be fine for the city children, and more effective than having them view these domestic animals in zoo cages.

POST-TONIC
The Remedy is Worse Than the Malady

Extra session or no extra session, farm relief is a fact. After months of waiting the farmer, along with the rest of us, can tune in on his radio and hear other things besides reference to his sad plight. If that isn't relief, I'd like to know what it is. Now that the election is decided it's a safe bet that politicians will be unamused in their verdict that the situation was exaggerated, anyway—until a few months before the next election.

HELL'S BELLS AND OTHER NOISES
An applicant for a license to operate a motor vehicle usually has to present evidence that he or she is over 18 years of age. This is a good law, for the majority of persons do not attain a fair sense of responsibility much before 15.

But the law fails to put a check on the question of responsibility in more than one-third of all operators licensed. You see, the law presumes that all applicants are "normal" in mental development, whereas the fact is that 30 per cent of the population is below normal mentally, classified as morons by the psychological experts. A moron is a person whose mental capacity is that of a normal child from 8 to 13 years of age. Unquestionably a large share of the present drivers of automobiles are mentally defective. The law takes no account of that factor when issuing a license.

In this recent election we heard a good deal about the intelligence test that new voters had to pass. The tests given were such as a normal 12 year old child could readily pass. So we do not discriminate against morons in the matter of suffrage.

The estimate that approximately 30 per cent of the population of the United States is mentally defective (i.e. is and super morons) was made by the psychologists who examined some millions of the young men drafted for military service in the World war. It is not unreasonable to suppose that thousands of young gentlemen who were never in any danger of being selected for army service seek and obtain licenses to operate motor vehicles, their own or an employer's vehicles.

Here arises the question whether the state is justified in ignoring the applicant's mental capacity when issuing a license to drive an automobile. If the applicant happens to be mentally unfit to have the responsibility, and goes out on a joy ride or a little booze party or takes it into his childish head to show the pikers on the road how to do some fancy driving, and so causes an accident, has the state fairly protected the people—or is that not the purpose of the license system?

The contribution of automobile drivers to the noise nuisance comes mainly from the lackwits. Like normal children they are fond of tooting on slight provocation. It is a trite observation that the intelligence of a driver varies inversely with the amount of unnecessary noise he emits.

In some sections the applicant for an operator's license is now required to pass an eyesight test. Of course he should have as good vision as a railroad engineer must have, for safety.

Isn't it about time that some reasonable standard of capacity to assume responsibility were established and the mental fitness of applicants for operating license determined before entrusting these persons with the safety of the public?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Child With Squint
Our healthy 4 year old boy's left eye turns in toward the nose. He has worn glasses for a year and they correct the trouble, while they are on. But when he takes them off his eye turns in as much as ever. Will his eye ever get better? (Mrs. S. W.)

Answer—It is important in such cases that the glasses be fitted while the child's accommodation is at rest. This cannot be accomplished without the use of drops. Only an oculist (physician) can use drops, and that's why some persons who are not permitted by law to do so try to make you think drops are dangerous.

Any Schoolteacher Can Tell You
In your opinion, is there any form of a drug in (a saline nostrum) which would make it unsafe to rub on the chest, neck and bridge of nose for a cold or to inhale the vapor? (Miss E. C.)

Answer—Louisiana chemists reported that the nostrum appears to be a mixture of yellow vaseline, with dashes of such soothing smells as camphor, turpentine, menthol, eucalyptol—smells calculated to impress any school teacher, who is just a bit credulous. (And how many teachers are) I don't think there is anything very harmful or dangerous in the nostrum—nothing more harmful than the procrastination while you are fooling with it.

How Reasonable
Please let me know of some good place to have my eyes examined. Must be reasonable. (Mrs. B. E. J.)

Answer—I can give no information about physician's fees. Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for the name and address of a competent oculist.

How We Banished the BBs
The BBs arrived shortly after my new son was born. Luckily the nurse left the next day, saving our reputation, for ours is a small village. Mother and I set to work next day, pouring from the can into every hole and nook and crack that old reliable kerosene, applying it by brush where the can could not reach. Same treatment repeated one week later. That was the end of the BBs. Simple, yet I've known it to succeed many times. (H. M. J.)

Answer—Yes, it is a good bedding discourager. So is gasoline used in the same way. Only be careful about having any flame in or near the room while the air is laden with the kerosene or gasoline vapor.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON
BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Washington. Plans of President elect Hoover for a good will pilgrimage of his own to Latin-America before his inauguration, via the battleship Maryland, were interesting to Washington, mighty interesting from several points of view. But of far more interest to the capital city, socially and commercially speaking, was disclosure of the Hoover notions on what his inauguration itself should be like.

His edict was awaited with bated breath. After a half century of such functions turned to a scale of elaborate pomp and ceremony Washington's socially elect and the city butchers, bakers and candlestick makers are fed up on the era of inaugural simplicity that came in with Harding, was rendered even more frugal by Coolidge and which has all but struck off the date books Washington's one great quadrantal fiesta.

Unofficial Washington never did like that old myth about Jefferson having just jogged up to a hitchhiking rack, tied his horse and then walked up to the capitol to take his oath of office as president, simple and easy as you please.

For one thing, it never happened that way, and for another, it would be a very bad precedent in the eyes of Washington's civic organizations if it had. They want their day in the sun, both for sentimental and

Adventures In The Library
By Arnold Mulder

HEROES OF A SCIENTIFIC AGE
In the Stone Age a man whitened himself a stout club and then paid a visit to other caves to knock up like himself over the head. If he succeeded in staying alive he was hero.

During the military age of civilized times great leaders merely improved the technique. Alexander was responsible for perhaps a million deaths and he was the greatest hero of his time. Ditto Julius Caesar and ditto Napoleon.

We of the scientific age are only just beginning to adopt new standards. As has been the case with periods of history, types of civilization overlap. The military standard of heroism maintains itself side by side with the scientific standard. Perhaps another century or two will have to elapse before the military type will be regarded as chaotic and the scientific as standard. Not only are the two types found side by side but often the same person recognizes both types.

The standard of the scientific age for a hero is not how many deaths he is responsible for but how many deaths he has prevented. The time may come when people in general will crowd the pages of the history books with the deeds of the Patrons of this world. That time seems at our door.

In proof of which witness the books of P. de Kruif. His new book "Hunger Fighters," recently published, like his earlier book "Microbe Hunters," presents for the average reader the stories of a group of men who are the true heirs of the scientific age. In most cases these heroes did not know themselves as heroes and the rest of us did not know them as such. It has remained for De Kruif and a few others to point them out to us. The next step will be to get them across the consciousness of the millions.

Here are the names of the principal heroes of science described in "Hunger Fighters." How many of them do you recognize immediately as a hero, in the same way that you recognize the name of General Grant or Julius Caesar? I confess that I myself did not know even one of these names. Here they are: Mark A. Carlton and Angus MacKay, the heroes of wheat; Marlor Dorset, John Mohler and Edward Francis, the heroes of meat; James Reid, Henry A. Wallace, George Harrison Shull, and George Hoffer the heroes of maize; Stephen Moulton Babcock, E. B. Hart Stebbins and Joseph Goldberger, the heroes of the vitamins.

There are others, but these are the chief characters in the dramatic personae of a story that is in every way an epic in its proportions and as big with meaning for the human race as any story of any military campaign at any time in the world's history. Every one of these men is responsible for the saving of thousands to lives and every one of them is responsible for the prevention of the deaths of thousands of others. They were a great generalissimo of science passing their lives far from the applause of the crowd in dingy laboratories, or on the wheat fields, or in hospitals or asylums, experimenting, failing but refusing to stay defeated; trying again and again and again, with one chance in a thousand of succeeding and finally, when success had come, content to let others reap the benefit.

There was one, for instance, Joseph Goldberger, who inoculated himself with what everybody thought was deadly blood of a sick person, merely to prove a theory he had formed.

that the subway under the Chicago and Northwestern railway is to be built without a retaining wall on the east side of the track, I feel it my duty to express myself on the subject. My property line is within 150 feet of where the subway is to begin on the east, having lived there for more than 40 years. I think I know some of the conditions. On account of quick sand for more than one-half the length of the subway it will be impossible to keep the street open without a good retaining wall. Having lived and paid taxes in the first ward for 43 years I have seen a good many of the city mistakes, and I do hate to see such a colossal blunder as this.

COOLIDGE LEAVES WHITE HOUSE IN GLOWING HEALTH

Physicians Think President
Is in Better Condition Now
Than Formerly

BY ROGER CORTESI
Washington—(AP)—President Coolidge will leave the White House March 4 in as good, if not better physical state than when he assumed office in 1923.

"From his present condition I should say that the president has before him 30 good years of active life," was the opinion given by a physician who has occasion for frequent examinations of the chief executive. "He is, if possible, in better physical shape than when he took office."

The secret of Mr. Coolidge's vigor, our condition is seen by his medical advisers in the fact that he is the first to notice the slightest alteration in his normal state and immediately asks for medical help to check what might otherwise develop into more serious trouble. This practice helps to preserve what is naturally a strong constitution in all its functions, capable of withstanding lengthy exertions, both physical and mental.

Mr. Coolidge is credited with "knowing his body as well as his politics." He needs no doctor's warning to become aware of some incipient indisposition and he furthermore falls in the category of the perfect patient in that he is able to facilitate the physician's task by revealing the likely cause of whatever indisposition ails him.

President Coolidge is intensely aware of the interdependence of full physical and mental efficiency. If his brain should at times not function with its customary lucidity, he is immediately led to seek the cause for this in some slight temporary physical disturbance. On such occasions he turns to his doctor to set matters straight again.

Mr. Coolidge, as a matter of fact, requires very little medical attention. He knows for himself what is good for him and needs little advice as to diets or as to what other precautions he should take to preserve his natural robustness. His knowledge of his own body is such that he naturally knows what it needs in such matters as exercise and rest.

At times, however, despite his instinctive tendency to watch his health, Mr. Coolidge is forced to overwork by the press of business that floods the White House, and which he will never allow to accumulate on his desk. The ill effects of such occasions are generally offset by another characteristic of the chief executive's constitution, namely his power of rapid recovery as soon as he is able to relax into his normal life again.

A typical example of this was provided during the last session of congress when the great number of important questions which arose before that body called for intense application on his part for months. After the session ended Mr. Coolidge appeared very tired and his exhausted appearance caused much wondering in Wisconsin whether he traveled immediately afterwards to spend his summer vacation on the Brule River.

Hardly a fortnight had he spent at the summer White House before his condition was apparently normal again. At the end of a month he was able to spend a whole day on the river fishing and return home less fatigued than others accompanying him who were 20 years younger than he.

Of chronic ailments Mr. Coolidge is said to have only one, and that is negligible. Every spring he suffers from rose fever, a variety of hay fever. He overcomes the tiresome effects of this affliction by choosing his summer residence in localities free from pollen or other causes of the ailment.

On the whole, therefore, his doctors believe that Mr. Coolidge's years in the White House have not proved harmful to his health. Gifted with a strong constitution and perhaps warned by the fatal effects which neglect of their physique had on some of his predecessors, he has been wise enough to take good care of his health both for the sake of preserving it and to be able to fulfill with unimpaired capacity the duties of the Presidency.

President Enjoys Good Health

EXPECT CHANGE IN TRADING STAMP ACT

Action by State Legislature
May Result from Dormant
"Co-op Case"

Madison—(AP)—Prospects of attempts in the 1929 legislature to change the trading stamp act were seen in the capitol with the review of the long-dormant "Co-op case." The University Cooperative store, popularly known as the "Co-op" is the seat of attempts to change the law.

More than a year ago charges were made that its rebate system, whereby students and others holding membership tickets, are given reduced prices on clothing, books, novelties, and almost everything that a department store would sell, violated this act.

C. J. Kremer, state dairy and food commissioner, and thereby head of the weights and measures and other departments having to do with correct sales, asked Dist. Atty. T. Roberts for a warrant against the Co-op, alleging this violation. An opinion some time before that, from the attorney general's office, had held that the trading was legal, but a subsequent opinion, after John W. Reynolds took office, held that certain phases of the sales were illegal. Mr. Kremer, taking the salient features of the two cases and additional evidence that came to hand decided that the case should be furthered.

Glenn Roberts, Dane county district attorney, failed to take immediate action against the co-op and Mr. Kremer went to Gov. Zimmerman. The attorney general's department cannot initiate investigations and prosecutions on its own, but on or-aims of the association and asks that effort be made to have all officers in charge of charity work from every incorporated village in the county and the county poor officer attend the convention and hear discussions by men who have dealt with poor and charitable problems. E. G. Schueler, poor commissioner of Appleton, is a member of the association's advisory board.

OMAHA IN TERROR OF AX MURDERER

Hospital physicians said his death was a matter of hours.

Mrs. Strubling was awakened early Tuesday to see a man standing beside the bed. The lights were on and her husband's head was bleeding. The slayer hit him again and then struck at her. She moved and received a glancing blow.

This attack followed the killing of Mrs. Waldo Kasso and her sister, Creta Brown, early Monday morning in their home and the slaying of Joseph Blackman, 75, a grayman, early Sunday.

Eighty policemen, in pairs, armed with shotguns drove over Omaha Tuesday night. A half a hundred men volunteered Tuesday night to assist police in the hunt for the slayer.

Two dozen shotguns have been purchased for the police department. Commissioner Dunn said 50 cots and mattresses were provided to give officers and detectives a chance to rest. A score of deputy sheriffs slept in the courthouse Tuesday night to be ready for an emergency.

DEMOCRATS TO TRY TO MEND QUARREL

Facts of the situation to say that factionalism has died down with the election, or that it will not for some time to come trouble the Democratic party in the south.

MUCH BITTERNESS
Reports from some southern states reveal that the election bitterness went so deep that it even affected business as well as personal relations. Under such circumstances the partisans of the anti-Smith men will probably be as active in their support as will the pro-Smith elements in opposing them. In almost every case where the bolting was done, however, the electoral vote was cast against Smith, in instances where a combined Republican and anti-Smith Democratic vote was a majority of the state's vote. In a primary the fight will be between two elements of the Democratic party and were the lines to be sharpened drawn on this issue the pro-Smith groups would win out except of course in states where the Republicans could enter a Democratic primary.

The Democrats who remained loyal to their party, however, are not eager to alienate the bolters for a substantial number, indeed a balance of power, is involved. While it is true that most of the Hoover Democrats voted the Democratic state tickets it also is apparent that a large number who voted the Republican ticket nationally have acquired a certain independence of action which would require very little stimulus to drive them into the Republican party altogether.

The task of reconciliation is therefore not going to be easy. One lesson that the regular Republicans in congress learned when they tried to read out of the party those western Republicans who supported a bolting Republican, La Follette in 1924 was that in the end it doesn't pay and that more harm than good is stirred up politically by such efforts at punishment.

WON'T PUNISH BOLTER
There are rumors again about reading out of the Republican party

PARENTS UNDERSTOOD THIS BABY'S LANGUAGE

"We thought we were going to lose our baby, teething," says a Kentucky mother. "He couldn't digest anything and was getting thinner every day. After one of his fretful crying nights, I thought of Castoria and got some. A few drops made him comfortable, and after a few doses, he seemed like a different baby." Doctors everywhere recommend purely-vegetable, harmless Fletcher's Castoria for colds, constipation, colic and other ills of babies and children, and millions of mothers know its gentle influence is best. Avoid imitations. The Fletcher signature is the mark of genuine Castoria.

such men as Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska and Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, but the older heads who have had experience with bolting Progressives of 1912 will probably persuade their brethren to let well enough alone. In the Democratic party there probably will be some candidates for the house and senate growing out of the folds of the 1923 campaign. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who supported Hoover, is very likely to have opposition two years hence if he is a candidate for reelection, Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy in the Wilson cabinet, who supported Smith, is talked of as a probable opponent in the Democratic primaries. Florida with its heavy northern immigration is much more likely to stay in the Republican ranks than Virginia or Texas or North Carolina but the election has left sore spots enough to keep the more temperate and conciliatory party leaders busy for the next four years.

FOX RIVER LEVEL HIGHER NOW THAN IN SEVEN MONTHS

Riparians Report No Dam- age, Although Water Is Near Danger Mark

The level of the Fox river and Lake Winnebago is higher now than it has been for seven months, according to A. F. Everett, government engineer. The level of the river is about 12 inches higher than it was at any other time during the past half year while Lake Winnebago and the upper river is about 15 inches higher. No damage has been reported here by riparians, but some damage has been reported by those living along the shores of the lake.

The levels of smaller bodies of water in this vicinity, including Partidge lake at Fremont and Gills landing, are within the banks of the Wolf river, but are nearly two feet higher now than under normal conditions. Much farm land has been under water for several weeks. Repair and construction work on locks, dams, and several other river projects was abandoned a few weeks ago because of high water.

Work has been resumed for repairing the piers of the S. Onondaga bridge since one gate near the Fox River Paper company has been the only one opened. Two pumps are being used to keep the water out of the coffer sections where repair work is in progress.

A reading of the river level was officially taken last Saturday and it was found that the lake level measured 15 1/2 inches above the crest of the Menasha dam. Since that time the sluice gates at Menasha have been opened in order to maintain a level of 15 inches which is an established water mark. When the high water level of 15 inches is exceeded, damage is done to roads, land, and other property.

STATE LEGISLATURE STILL "COLLEGIATE"

Madison (AP)—As was the 1927 session of the legislature the 1929 meeting will be "collegiate."

At least two of the members will be students at the state university here. John E. Rohan, Kaukauna, junior in the college of letters and science and Charles A. Barnard, Brillion, junior in the law school will be the law-making collegians. Rohan was elected in the second district of Outagamie and Barnard received the popular vote in the Calumet-co district. Both are 21, Barnard having four months advantage in age.

The "enemies"—Rohan a Democrat and Barnard a conservative Republican, rode home together in Rohan's collegiate sliver when they took a few days off to "stump" their districts in the campaign. They met in high school as debaters for their separate teams.

12,345 VOTES WERE CAST IN WAUPACA-CO

Madison (AP)—Waupaca-co will probably have the least difficulty in remembering the total votes it cast in 1928 for President. In that county there were 12,345 ballots cast toward the new state record of 1,016, $72, as revealed by the secretary of state's figures before the official canvass.

"Scattering," that candidate that always receives a goodly number of votes in the official totals, and who appears in the personages of Andy Gump, Barney Google and Will Rogers, received 41 votes for President in Wisconsin.

The counties contributed 450,259 for Smith and Robinson electors and 544,205 for Hoover-Curtis electoral college members.

STAGE And SCREEN

What is believed by Paramount studio executives and hundreds of reviewers to be one of the most pretentious screen products of the season will be offered Fischers Appleton theatre patrons today and Thursday when Erich von Stroheim's production, "The Wedding March," will be shown.

The filming of the picture consumed more than six months of concentrated effort and the result has been a picture of Vienna life in story and color.

The sequences laid in and before the great St. Stephen's cathedral in Vienna during the celebration of Corpus Christi required the assistance of more than 2,100 persons and resulted in scenes of the utmost magnificence. These sequences are reproduced on the screen in colors of rare beauty and the whole combines to produce an unusually interesting and inspiring portrayal.

The hundreds of uniforms worn by the mounted soldiers were actually secured in Vienna and are the original costumes worn by members of the famous Mounted Guards regiment. In the Corpus Christi sequence, the carriage occupied by the late Emperor Franz Josef, imported from Austria in spite of united opposition on the part of loyal Austrians, is used.

"THE AIR CIRCUS"

Proving that they are as adept in touching the heart strings of film fans as they are in providing laughter, three young film satellites in the air across the screen at the Elitte Theatre Monday and Tuesday in "The Air Circus" and etched their names more deeply into the film favorite lists of those assembled.

"The Air Circus" is a picture that grips one's interest with the opening scene and never releases it. This one, unlike many plots, is unfolded in such a manner as to keep one guessing right down to the final fadeout. David Rollins, around whom the major portion of the story revolves, captivates with his boyish wholesomeness and exceptional handling of this opus by Howard Hawks and Lew Seiler, the directors keeps Rollins' victory over fear of the air encountering so many obstacles that it seems doubtful, until the last few minutes of the picture, whether it will be victory or failure.

Sue Carol does admirable work as the sister of the aviation school owner, played by Charles Delaney. Sue is an air instructor and it falls to her lot to teach Rollins and his pal, Arthur Lake, how to fly a plane. Young Lake takes to flying like a duck to water but Rollins, who, theoretically should excel Lake because Rollins' brother scored success as an overseas ace, develops fear in the air, which is accentuated when Rollins' racks up in two attempts to handle a plane in the air. Delaney, the owner of the school and his sister who helps him, both are anxious that Rollins give a creditable performance as a flyer, but their hopes seem destined to go un-realized.

While the three youngsters in this

BRIGGS, NOTED CARTOONIST, IS SUED BY WIFE

New York — Clare Briggs, cartoonist, was placed in the position today to contribute from actual experience to his famous cartoon of married life, "Mr. and Mrs."

He was made defendant in a suit for absolute divorce, filed by Ruth Owen Briggs. The papers merely stated that Briggs had been served with a copy of the summons and complaint and had entered appearance through counsel.

The couple have been separated for two years. James C. Cleary, counsel for Mrs. Briggs, said that he would probably ask for a referee to try the suit to avoid publicity.

Cleary said that no money was being sought by Mrs. Briggs as the cartoonist had made generous financial provision for her. The couple have three children.

TOSCHA SEIDEL TRIO IS COMING

Musicians Will Appear Here Nov. 26 on Second Artist Series

The Toscha Seidel trio will appear in Appleton Monday, Nov. 26, as the second number of the Community Artist series. The trio includes Toscha Seidel, a violinist of unusual genius; Emanuel Ray, pianist, and Ewald Bolander, cellist.

When Mr. Seidel made his debut in America several years ago, the critics conceded him a place with the greatest contemporary violinists. His subsequent tours of this country added greatly to his fame, for the critics with each appearance noted something new in his playing. His audiences, too, became larger and larger with each appearance; his tours expanded, and each year brought re-engagements and visits to many new cities.

Mr. Seidel's rapid musical and artistic growth may be attributed to the fact that he is totally absorbed in his work. His love for music is innate, and he is never happier than when studying and playing on his instrument. His repertoire is tremendous in scope, yet he is forever searching the works of the old and new masters to bring to his audiences beautiful music.

When he played the difficult Brahms Concerto in London the Daily Mail said, "Kreutzer at his best did not play the Brahms Concerto with more animated passion than this youth, who showed no inclination at its impressive tradi-ly."

Pro Women Hear Talk On Europe

MISS Carrie Morgan described her trip to Europe at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club Tuesday evening at Appleton Women's club. The trip to and from Europe and the Olympic games, which Miss Morgan attended, was discussed. Miss Morgan was a member of the Olympic tour headed by Knute Rockne.

Forty-five members attended the dinner which preceded the business meeting and program. Miss Lydia Hollenbeck explained the meaning of the emblem of the organization illustrating her talk with a large emblem. Dr. Eliza Culbertson reported on the state night dinner recently held in Milwaukee, attended by Miss Catherine Nooyen, Miss Irene Reinke, Miss Ilabae Stern, Miss Lydia Hollenbeck and Dr. Culbertson.

Miss Jane Barclay, local health chairman, gave a healthy talk and distributed booklets on colds. Dr. Culbertson reported that all but three or four of the members of the club had voted at the election. Dr. Culbertson read a letter from the state legislative chairman asking the club to adopt a resolution favoring the ratification of the Multilateral treaty and also read an explanation of the aims of the national organization and the proposed Federal Department of Education and an explanation of the education bill.

PARTIES

SCREEN STARS PLAN TO WED, GET LICENSE

Los Angeles —(AP)—Hollywood's arenas of motion picture romance buzzed Wednesday with discussions of the impending marriage of John Barrymore, stage and screen star, and Dolores Costello, film actress and daughter of the veteran player Maurice Costello. Barrymore applied for the license Tuesday.

The marriage will be Barrymore's third venture into matrimony and Miss Costello's first. Neither would discuss plans for the wedding but close friends intimated that they probably would wed during the coming weekend.

News of the engagement caused a mild sensation in Hollywood, as none but the closest friends of the couple were aware that anything more than a friendship existed between the two—a friendship which began several years ago when they appeared in the leading roles of one of Barrymore's pictures.

Barrymore, unaccompanied, walked into the marriage license bureau Tuesday and signified his intention to wed. He gave his name as John Blythe Barrymore, age 41. He listed Miss Costello's age as 22. The actor gave out the following note: "Miss Costello and Mr. Barrymore applied this morning for a license to marry."

"The former Mrs. John Barrymore, who is now abroad, has been separated from her husband for several years and recently obtained a divorce from him. No definite date has been set for the marriage."

In 1910 Barrymore married Catherine Harris, daughter of a wealthy New York and Santa Barbara family. She obtained a divorce in December, 1917.

He then married Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas of New York, who was well known as an authoress and playwright under the name of Michael Strange.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The August group of the Social Union of First Methodist church will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the church. A luncheon will be served after the meeting. Mrs. B. G. Blakowsky and Mrs. R. C. Kleist will be the hostesses. Mrs. J. A. Holmes is acting as captain of the group.

Circle No. 1 of First Congregational church will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Annette Buchanan, E. College-ave. Mrs. R. W. Getschow is captain of the group.

Officers will be elected at the meeting of the Young Ladies' society of St. Theresa church at 7:30 Thursday evening at the parish hall. A class of 34 new members will be initiated into the sodality at the meeting.

LEAGUE BRANCHES ARE ANALYZED AT ROTARY MEETING

Dr. H. E. Peabody Also Gives
Character Sketch of Lord
Robert Cecil

An analysis of the auxiliary institutions of the League of Nations, and an insight into the character of Lord Robert Cecil were the main topics of a speech on the League of Nations presented by Dr. H. E. Peabody to Rotary club at its luncheon meeting Tuesday. The address was the first of three speeches on international affairs to be given by different members of Rotary club.

Dr. Peabody, who spent three months in Europe attended the School of International Relations in Geneva early in August, prior to the meeting of the League of Nations. Meetings were held in the League of Nations headquarters and the school was addressed by many leaders of international fame.

The speaker explained that his first impression was that the problems confronting the league were so complex that he could see no hope of a satisfactory settlement of the issues, but that after coming in contact with the experts who were in Geneva to handle these situations he began to hope for a solution.

However, the thing that impressed him most was the work of the auxiliary institutions which have grown up around the league, institutions which have come to be almost more important than the league itself.

After mentioning the 12 or 15 auxiliary groups, such as the economic conference and the vice commission, which are trying to undermine the causes of war, Dr. Peabody explained the workings of the International Health bureau, which has expert agents all over the world tracing the causes of disease. He compared the network of health headquarters to a weather bureau map and told how there is a constant interchange of health officers and health information.

Though the United States is not officially a member of the League, the speaker continued, it is very closely connected with it, because the people of the United States are paying 40 per cent of the cost of this health bureau.

The remainder of his speech Dr. Peabody devoted to a keen description of Lord Robert Cecil, "the greatest man in the League since Woodrow Wilson," and a man who reminded me of Abe Lincoln." Dr. Peabody told how the progress of the League is the great ambition of this English statesman, and then quoted excerpts of his speech to those attending the Geneva School of International Relations. Among them were "If one admits that the force of war is ever necessary, one could not find a more carefully guarded use of force than in the League of Nations." Also, "the present power of war will last but a decade more and if we do not bring peace within the next 10 years we will never do it."

Dr. Peabody concluded his speech with the thought that through all time the names of peacemakers have lived beyond those of the warriors of the time, giving Isaiah an example of a man who has lived through the ages because he talked of peace.

COUPLE OBSERVES GOLDEN WEDDING

100 Guests Served at Banquet in Honor of Clintonville Pioneers

Clintonville — A number of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Behnke gathered at their home in this city on Saturday evening in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. After an appropriate address delivered by their pastor the Rev. R. F. W. Pautz of St. Martin's Lutheran church, the company went to the K. C. hall where a 7 o'clock banquet had been spread in their honor, covers being laid for more than on hundred guests.

The bride of fifty years ago, was gowned in golden brown silk, trimmed with gold lace and ornamented with gold flowers. Gold color prevailed in the table decorations. Max Stieg served as toastmaster for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Behnke were married at the Nicholson church, then a small log building located on the cemetery hill. Five children were born to them all of whom with the exception of Bertha, the late Mrs. Rudolph Schmiedke, of this city, are living, and were present on this occasion. The three sons, Otto, John and Richard, now reside at Bear Creek and one daughter, Lydia now Mrs. Rohde lives at Clayton, Wis. In addition to having each of the four children with them on this occasion, all except one of their fourteen grandchildren were present. Mr. Behnke's two brothers, Charles and Henry Behnke of Brooklyn, Wisconsin were also in attendance.

The aged bride couple, as well as each one of their children responded to toasts when inroduced by the toast master. One grand son, Victor Rohde of Clayton, who is a student at River Falls Teachers colleges gave a biography of Mr. and Mrs. Behnke and their history covering more than half a century. Several friends and neighbors also responded to toasts.

HINT FOR PRISONERS
Pittsburg — There have been countless instances of persons being thrown into prison for getting "plastered," but here is an instance where a convict plastered himself out of jail. It recently came to the attention of the federal court that Kenneth Frye had done $500 worth of plastering on the jail walls. He was immediately summoned and paroled. Frye was in jail because of transporting a stolen auto.

Wisconsin has it, and has it badly.
In Madison, from the Governor's office in the state capital to the cab drivers in front of the hotels, from President Frank's office atop "the room where the lowliest freshman lives, the talk is football. Not football in general, but Wisconsin football.

Walk along the street. Two elderly gentlemen speak together. Not of the wild frenzied speculation in New

The names of Luby, Consumer, Casey, is followed by a silent prayer for physical and mental fitness.

Meanwhile, the Badgers themselves are planning. They realize that for the first time they will buck

Football tickets are at a premium.
When 6:500 were placed on sale Monday morning, by noon they were gone. Alumni in Chicago, who had planned on attending an inter-sectional game there, have wired for tickets. Fraternity houses are renting extra cots, softening davenport and ordering food supplies.

Madison police are beginning to worry about the football celebration that will be held Saturday night regardless of victory or defeat. They remember the days when a football celebration was all the name implies.
They point to the spontaneous burst at Iowa City when rooters lifted the goal posts, took the yard marks, then paraded to the main corner where a varsity cheer leader usurped the stop and go sign as a tower from which to lead yells.

They point to the crowd that waited from midnight to 2 o'clock Sunday morning to welcome the team back, and to the little taxi driver, who though he had never attended the university, mounted a baggage truck and lead cheers.

America's famous football coaches and officials line up for Postum

"For fifteen years Postum has held an important place in the training diet of my teams. And not merely because it is my favorite mealtime drink. Steady nerves are a first requirement in football, and Postum is one hot drink that does not irritate the nerves. It never interferes with sound sleep either."

J. F. (Chic) MEEHAN,
Head Coach, New York University.

"I don't think there's any drink for athletes that compares with Postum. It has a regular place in the training diet of my teams. Any man who wants to keep in trim will have a better chance if he sticks to Postum."

JESS B. HAWLEY,
Head Coach, Dartmouth College.

"Three times a day for fifteen years, Postum has been served at the training table of my football teams, and I think it has had much to do with the condition of my men."

H. J. STEGEMAN,
Director of Athletics, University of Georgia.

"Throughout my years of football, both as a player and as an official, I have been keenly interested in the effects of training table diet on playing ability. This personal study has convinced me that Postum is the best of all mealtime drinks for athletes. I drink it myself."

WALTER H. ECKERSALL,
All-America Quarterback, 1904-05-06, noted football official and sports writer.

"My work as an official in football games has brought me into contact with teams in every part of the country. From my observation, I am convinced that Postum is the ideal training drink."

TOM THORP,
Former Columbia University football star and prominent sports official.

IN THE great game of life, too, it takes steady nerves and an alert, wide-awake brain to reach the goal.

Safeguard your nerve power as football stars do theirs! Eliminate caffeine from your diet—drink Postum with your meals instead. Try this simple diet change for thirty days—then judge!

Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran. No trace of any artificial stimulant in it—nothing to repel sleep, get on your nerves, or affect digestion. You'll enjoy Postum, too! A drink with a rich, distinctive flavor that millions prefer!

Postum costs less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Your grocer has it. Order today—start your 30-day test.

COST REDUCED
Almost One-Third
on
Loans $10 to $300

The Household Finance Corporation, by reason of large volume of business, efficient management, and favorable credit facilities, attained after fifty years of operation, is now making a very substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300.

You can borrow from us for about one-third less than we formerly charged, and about one-third less than the maximum lawful rate. For example, total cost on $50 for one month is $1.25; for five months, paid in five equal monthly payments, is $3.75. All other amounts up to $300 at same proportionate rate.

If you have a loan elsewhere, let us explain our new reduced rate and tell you how much you will save by borrowing from us. You get the money without delay. Return it in small monthly payments, arranged to suit your convenience. Each payment of principal reduces the interest.

No Endorsers. No one need know. Our service is personal and confidential. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives or tradespeople.

WORK ON SUBWAY WILL START SOON

City Expected to Let Contracts for Work Within a Few Days

As soon as the city secures a sewer easement, which will cost $500, contract for work on the subway on Wisconsin-ave will be let and construction work will start, according to Mayor A. C. Rule. This action is expected to be completed within a few days, as the contractors are anxious to get started because of the lateness of the season. A meeting of the finance committee will be held as soon as possible to allow the bill.

Low bidders on the subway work are Simpson and Parker, Appleton; excavation and pavement; R. J. Wilson Co., Appleton; sewers; Cool Construction Co., Chicago, concrete retaining walls. They will receive the contracts, for according to the terms of a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the common council, the contracts will be awarded to the low bidder, provided the plans are approved by the state highway commission. The commission approved the plans last week.

Although the city and Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co., are co-operating in the project, each will perform a definite part of the work. Consequently, each will award separate contracts.

3 TRAFFIC OFFENDERS ARE FINED $1, COSTS

Three traffic law violators were fined $1 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday morning. All pleaded guilty. They are: Clifford Hahn, 702 N. Division-st., arrested by Officer Arndt Monday for passing an illegal highway at Richmond and Spring-sts without stopping; Edward Ahrens, 1000 W. Summer-st., arrested Monday by Officer Earl Thomas for parking in an alley between State-ave and Lawrence-st; R. B. Moran, 727 E. College-ave, arrested Monday by Chief George T. Prim for parking within a restricted zone at a corner.

Roy Leeper, 720 N. Durkee-st., arrested by Officer Arndt, Monday, for parking in an alley, did not appear in court Tuesday morning.

THREE MEN SAFE AFTER NIGHT IN LAKE STORM

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—Three Cleveland men, who drifted helplessly all night aboard two barges in a gale on the lower end of Lake Erie, reached land safely early Tuesday when the storm washed ashore.

The barges, the coast guard reported, went ashore near Bay view, south of this city. The men aboard, John Westa, Elmer Mackey and Eno Mackey, were taken to Emergency hospital for treatment for exposure.

The barges, in tow of a tug, were on the way from Buffalo to Cleveland when they encountered a gale near point Albino and put about to return to the harbor here. Shortly afterward the barges were torn away.

VILLAGE WOULD TAKE OVER ELECTRIC SYSTEM

Stevens Point (AP)—Taking advantage of the Wisconsin recapture law, the village of Plover, five miles west of Stevens Point, has started legal action to take over the electrical distribution system of the Wisconsin Valley Electric company.

Officials of the village say that they are taking cognizance of special power advantages that surround them and that they believe they can affect a large saving to light and power customers by operating the electric system as a municipal enterprise.

The village's action is in line with that advocated by the Wisconsin League of Municipalities. This league, representing 151 Wisconsin cities and villages, will urge a program of public ownership of electric utilities before the 1929 legislature.

GASOLINE THIEF IS ARRESTED AT HURLEY

Ashland (AP)—A St. Paul youth who drove up to a gasoline filling station here, had 13 gallons of gasoline put in the tank of the car and then drove away without paying for it, was arrested 30 miles from here and is being held in Hurley for St. Paul authorities. It was found that the car he was driving had been stolen.

QUESTION No. 10. What card should South lead to trick 2? (Fill the blank before you read the answer that follows.)

ANSWER BLANK

10. To trick 2, South should lead

THE ANSWER

10. To trick 2, South should lead the Deuce of Hearts.

The reason for this play is that South can count five Heart tricks, one Spade, two Diamonds and one Club—one short of game. There is only one possibility of making another trick; if the King of Spades be held by East and a small Spade be led by North on the first round of that suit, South's Queen would win the first or second Spade trick and two Spade tricks would be made up.

MAY FORM BADGER COMMERCE CHAMBER

State-wide Association Expected to Result from Kenosha Meeting

Kenosha (AP)—Organization of a state chamber of commerce is looked for when 135 representatives from that many active chambers and associations of commerce in Wisconsin meet here Dec. 2.

The local chamber of commerce is taking the initiative in the work, and George S. Whyte, president of the MacWharty company here, has issued the call to representatives.

Among those listed as supporting the state-wide organization are Oscar F. Stotzer, president of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce; W. H. Alford, vice president of the Nash Motors company; A. J. Horlick; Harold L. Gelsse, president of the Wausau Chamber of Commerce; S. A. Oscar, president of the Madison Chamber of Commerce, and other manufacturers and civic leaders throughout the state.

A great number of motorcars bombard the earth each day, but they seldom fall within range of civilization.

for the Declarer who also could discard from Closed Hand on Dummy's Ace of Spades.

Dummy can be made to win two trump tricks. After the first, the small Spade can be led; and after the second, the Ace of Spades can be cashed. Consequently to trick 2 South should lead the Deuce of Hearts, playing the Six from Dummy. If that card win (which it probably will if West has the Ace), the small Spade should be led to trick 3. If the Ace of Hearts takes trick 2, Dummy will be left with the two necessary entries in the trump suit.

Here is Deal H and question No. 11.

To the first trick West leads the Six of Clubs, dummy plays the Deuce, East the Nine, and South Hand the Jack.

To the second trick South leads the King of Diamonds.

QUESTION No. 11. Which Diamond should West play on trick 2? (Fill the blank before you read the answer that follows.)

ANSWER BLANK

11. To trick 2, West should play

THE ANSWER

11. On trick 2, West should play the Queen of Diamonds.

West knows that South has the King and Eight of Clubs (on the first trick East has played the Nine and West has not played the King or if he had held either the King or the Eight). Therefore, a lead of Clubs from West will result in making good a Club for South, but a lead of Clubs from East probably will result in the taking of four Club tricks by West.

With the Diamonds shown by Dummy and the King led by South, West knows that his side will not take a Diamond trick if South has the Jack of Diamonds; but if his partner (East) has the Jack and two other Diamonds, a Diamond trick is assured for them. If, on the King of Diamonds, West play a small Diamond and East has the Jack, on the second round of Diamonds (trick 3) South will lead a small Diamond; West will have to play the Queen, and the Declarer unquestionably will duck from Dummy so as to leave the lead in the West hand, and to be able to run Dummy's Diamonds. If West play the Queen of Diamonds on the King, East will win the Diamond trick belonging to his side and be able to lead the Club far more effectively than West could do.

a bit too early for thoughtful gift seekers to be choosing gifts for men you really want to please.

There's a week less of shopping time after Thanksgiving than there was a year ago.

So it's none too early — and how pleasant it will be when crowds join the stores a few weeks from now to have most of your gifts selected.

This store awaits with pleasure the opportunity to help you select remembrances that will please the men on your holiday gift list.

CHAMBER AIR MAIL COMMITTEE NAMED

Group Will Hold First Meeting Thursday Afternoon at Chamber Office

Eight Appleton men have been appointed members of the Air Mail committee of the chamber of commerce by W. O. Thiede, chamber president. The first meeting will be held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in chamber offices. Members of the committee are David Smith, chairman, John Riedl, Seymour Gmeiner, George Banta, Jr., Karl Haugen, D. P. Steinberg, Fred Schiltz and George Schmidt.

The purpose of the committee is to lay before the federal postal department reasons why Appleton should be made an official air mail stop in the proposed route through the state to Duluth, Minn. "Appleton airport is very advantageously located," said Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the local chamber. "It is situated on a federal highway always kept open and can be reached by bus every 15 minutes. Appleton is the center of population for the district and has first rate railroad and highway facilities. The port has only one weakness—in that it is not yet lighted."

Local postal authorities have indicated they would work to bring about the proposed stop. Fred Felix Wettengel, acting postmaster, is vitally interested in the route.

SEEKS RUBBER TIRES IN CARLOAD LOTS

Appleton Chamber of commerce has received an inquiry from a Chicago company wishing to buy old rubber tires in carload lots. The request is for information regarding persons here who might have carload lots to sell. Information probably will be forwarded the company, according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the local chamber.

START REPAIR WORK SOON ON TWO LOCKS

Repair work on the second and third Appleton locks will start as soon as navigation closes, according to A. F. Everett, government engineer. The wood platforms of the locks are to be replaced by concrete and several other changes are to be made. The cost of the repair work will be about $25,000.

Railroad Man Here
Marshall Bryan, Milwaukee, traveling agent for the Union Pacific railroad company visited local depot at the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad company Monday afternoon. He held a conference with A. W. Liese, local agent, and members of the office staff.

ATHLETE REJUVENATED
Vienna, Josef Urich, popular Austrian football star, has been operated on to restore his prowess on the field. It is said that certain "power" glands were opened to increase the muscular power of the athlete. A daily check of muscle growth following the operation was announced as "very satisfactory," although actual playing will be required in order to prove the experiment a success.

DIDN'T WANT LEARNIN'
Findlar, O.—Congressman Brooks Fletcher was to address an educational meeting at Benton Ridge. However, it appears local sentiment was not entirely in favor of the speech, because when the main speaker arrived he was told that all the electric light wires into the auditorium had been cut. As a result the meeting was called off and Congressman Fletcher offered $100 reward for the arrest of the vandals.

LOCAL MAN TO REFEREE AT WRESTLING MATCH

Dr. G. W. Rastade of this city has been selected to referee the wrestling matches between Northwestern University and Green Bay Y. M. C. A. teams at Green Bay Saturday evening. Dr. Rastade was formerly a member of the University of Iowa wrestling team and served as assistant instructor. The tournament Saturday evening will include five matches.

CHINESE TEMPLES BECOME LIBRARIES

Chengchow, China—(AP)—Destruction of all idols in the temples as carried out by the authorities has caused much resentment among the people hereabouts. Theoretically, under the new regime, there are no idols for public worship anywhere in Honan province and large numbers have actually been destroyed. Many of the temples have already been converted into libraries or museums. The walls of these buildings have been covered with posters and pictures issued by the government propaganda department, some being anti-foreign and others anti-imperialistic. A great many of the posters were designed with the view of teaching hygiene, economy and other matters which might improve the home.

"And Along Came Ruth"

Here are two portrait studies of Florida's new congresswoman, Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan. She will have plenty of feminine company when she goes to congress, for two other Ruths also were elected, Ruth Hanna McCormick, of Illinois, and Ruth Baker Pratt, of New York.

MANY RESPOND TO RED CROSS ROLL

130 Already Have Sent in Subscriptions Voluntarily, Chairman Reports

People in this vicinity are responding rapidly to the 1928-29 roll call of Outagamie-co chapter of the American Red Cross and thus far 130 people have voluntarily sent in their subscriptions, according to F. M. Ingler, chairman of the county campaign. It is hoped that by Thanksgiving day, when the drive closes, 1,200 members will be secured.

Circulars have been sent out to people in the county who cannot be reached by other means and workers are on duty in the various towns and villages. Among those who have voluntarily offered their services are G. L. McBain of Seymour; Mrs. F. E. Grogan and Mrs. W. C. Sullivan, Kaukauna; R. C. Clark and W. Roberts, Kimberly; Mrs. Bessie Jenkins, Bear Creek; Dr. J. J. Laird, Black Creek; and Arnold Rome, Dale. It is expected that several more people will take over the work in other villages this week.

One person has been assigned to Red Cross solicitations in each of the larger department stores here. Managers of the establishments also have offered the services of their

WEIGHING HABIT NEW FAD HERE, MERCHANTS SAY

How many times did you weigh yourself last month? Appleton people seem very much interested in their weights and there seems to be a new fad established here which is the "weigh yourself daily" habit" according to several merchants who own public scales.

Last month approximately 15,000 pennies were taken out of five scales located in the busiest sections of Collegeave. The pennies are removed twice a month and some times more than that. The Scales salespeople voluntarily. The work also is being carried on in several other fields about the city.

are all of the "honest weight—no springs" type which produce a small white ticket with your weight and fortune printed on them. It is possible that the fortune telling feature is one of the chief reasons why scales are used so much, because the places are few and far between where it is possible to have your prospects for the future told in advance for one "copper."

The scale business is very stable, according to one merchant who reports that the number of "coppers" taken out of his machine each month is always very near the 3,000 mark, proving conclusively that the time of the year or presidential elections, or general high cost of living conditions has little or no effect on the fad.

LEWIS AND BRIDE "SETTLE DOWN" ON FARM IN VERMONT

Novelist and Wife Plan Quiet
Life in Comfortable Rural Community

BY JOHN B. KNOX

Barnard, Vt. — (P) — An ancient Vermont hill farm in Barnard has been chosen by Sinclair Lewis, novelist, and his bride, Dorothy Thompson, as their permanent spring-summer-and-autumn home.

Coming here from their honeymoon in England for a brief stay, before winter drove them to their New York apartment, they have been delighted with the comfortable, 132-year-old farmhouse and pleased with the lack of clutter shown by the countryside over their arrival.

Some might think the farm a bit lonely, but it is just what the author wanted. Barnard has only 650 residents, and they are scattered over a township of 45 square miles. The village is eight and 10 miles, respectively, from the railroad lines on the north and south. To reach the Lewis place one must climb a narrow, winding road out of the village, still higher into the hills, a distance of about two miles.

The house obscured from the highway, is low and white, with a wide veranda across its front. Surrounded by a bit of lawn and garden land amid a cluster of trees, it nestles on a slope which forms one side of a narrow valley. A few hundred feet below a brook rambles along in the valley bottom.

The old place has its historic associations. The hill road that swings past his driveway is still remembered locally as that used by Marquis de Lafayette on his final triumphal tour of America in 1825.

The novelist called attention to the doorstep of his home. The big oblong piece of work bore this inscription:

"FROM THIS STONE
THE DOORSTEP OF AKINS TAV-ERN"

MARQUIS DE LAFAYETTE AD-DRESSED THE PEOPLE OF BAR-NARD, VERMONT, JUNE 28, 1825."

The tavern, Mr. Lewis said, still stands a short distance down the highway and is now used as a farm-house.

In this setting, made more colorful by the Indian summer foliage, the novelist found seclusion for work on a novel he is finishing. And with his bride, who has a reputation of her own as a writer, he has planned the future of their farm home.

Part of his 300 acres Mr. Lewis plans to keep wooded. The brook will be dammed to form a natural swimming pool. The vegetable garden already has been moved farther from the house. The wife of the novelist has installed in its place the beginning of a flower garden. Here she has found enjoyment working the dark loam with her own hands.

Although a report had been circulated to the effect that people in the vicinity of Barnard had felt they might be made subject of another Lewis novel, no confirmation of this rumor could be found. Mr. Lewis,

Lewis Farm Home in Vermont

SUPPORT FEDERAL AIRPORT, CLUB TOLD

Airways Corporation Official
Urges Lions to Help Get
Port Here

Karl Haugen, president of the North American Airways corporation, made an appeal to the Lions club for cooperation of civic clubs in advancing and securing a federal airport here, at a meeting of the club at Conway hotel Monday afternoon. Appleton is the most centrally located city in the valley and already has one of the best airports in the state, Mr. Haugen stated. The population of this city is large enough to assure the success of the project, once it is started, and the facilities are better than those of Green Bay and Oshkosh where a movement is now on foot to secure a government airport, he pointed out.

The other speaker Monday was Professor William Crow of Lawrence college who told the group about the proceedings in the old House of Commons. Mr. Crow described the old customs which have become extinct. He compared parliamentary conditions today with those of centuries ago.

Regular business matters also were discussed.

Aged Author Hopes For Future 'Glorious Woman'

Stockholm — (P) — Selma Lagerlof, Swedish author and Nobel prize winner, reached the age of 70 Tuesday hopeful that the woman of today would become the glorious woman that "we old people wish."

Miss Lagerlof, whose first work, Goesta Berlings Saga, was translated into English 30 years ago, was asked what she thought of the modern type of woman. Her first answer was a question: "Instead of telling you my opinion regarding the modern type of woman, I should like to ask this: Does there really exist any modern woman type?" Then she continued: "The type of woman of the past was developed during centuries of constraint and strict supervision. She could, when at her best with regard to goodness, forsaking tenderness, and with regard to graceful appearance, be said to have reached almost perfection.

"The type of today, that one which is now being developed under a far greater liberty, is a queen who is herself responsible for her behavior and her doings. She may be yet only a creation in being. To be just, one ought to let her grow in peace, neither criticizing nor blaming her.

"We old people only wish for her that she may become all the glorious woman that we hoped she would when we provided her with her freedom."

Attend Convention

E. L. Madison, Gordon Bush and Frank Sager of the Midwest Publishing company will attend the Wisconsin Cheese Makers convention at Green Bay, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 21 and 22, displays of machinery, equipment and supplies for cheesemakers, and exhibits of prize winning cheese will feature the convention. The cheese makers annual dance will be held Thursday evening.

Miss Lucille Manser and Burton Manser, students at the University of Wisconsin, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Manser, E. Washington-st.

Gordon Bush of the Midwest Publishing company was a business visitor at Fond du Lac, Monday.

BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits were issued Monday by John Weiland, building inspector. They were granted to Louis Herrmann for an addition to a garage at 612 N. Appleton-st., cost $75; and Mrs. Hildabrandt for a residence at 612 E. Circle-st.

frightfully cut and bruised

"It was a terrible fall and left me badly cut, bruised and shaken." How often these and similar accidents occur in every home! You know it only too well. People must learn to be prepared. The proper treatment—the nature of your first aid in such cases—often spells the difference between a long, serious infection and a quick, painless recovery—almost like magic.

There you have it—cuts and bruises healed almost like magic. No danger of infection either, if you have Oil of Salt handy when these unaccountable accidents occur. And for burns or scalds—it's positively marvelous! Applied in time, Oil of Salt prevents blistering, and soothes the pain immediately. Doesn't smart when applied—just protects and heals.

No home should be without Oil of Salt. Be ready for any emergency. Keep a bottle handy. Physicians, hospitals, big industrial concerns and thousands of homes praise it glowing. Druggists recommend it—and refund your money if you're not amazed at its wonderful healing powers. Or write C. A. Mosso Laboratories, 218 S. Leavitt St., Chicago, for liberal free sample.

JUDGE PAROLES MAN WHO DESERTED WIFE

Gust Metreas, Appleton, arrested in Chicago last week for non-support and desertion, pleaded guilty and was paroled to the state board of control for two years when arraigned before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday. He waived preliminary hearing. The complaint was signed by the woman caring for Metreas' daughter.

Paul Morawetz, Appleton, also arrested in Chicago last week for non-support was arraigned in court Tuesday morning. His preliminary hearing will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

himself, said he had learned of no such feeling. "If they have, I haven't encountered it. No, they haven't the self consciousness of people in towns. People in towns worry about such things."

"It's a good place to get work done," the author said. "I really don't know any of the people in the neighborhood yet. And they don't intrude upon you—just let you alone."

"I'm settling down now after many years of wandering. Of course, I'll go back to Europe in a couple of years. But instead of spending a couple of years there at a time I will probably cut my visits to about four months."

TWO PIECES OF LAND ARE SOLD BY SHERIFF

Two parcels of land, one in the town of Deer Creek and another in the town of Freedom, were disposed of at sheriff's sale Tuesday morning. Both tracts went to the plaintiffs in the foreclosure action, the former for $3,500 and the latter for $13,500.

The mortgage on the Deer Creek property was held by the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, the mortgage being against Lloyd W. Blodgett, Mabel C. Blodgett, Arthur Olson and Citizens State bank, Appleton. The Freedom property was purchased by Andrew DeCoster and wife, who held a mortgage against Joseph Houle, John Houle, Hattie Houle, John Schommer and Freedom State Bank.

ALL CHILDREN FORGET WHEN THEY ARE YOUNG

BY OLIVER ROBERTS BARTON
PAUL, run down to the store and get me a pack of cigarettes.

Dad gave Paul a quarter and off he went.

After an hour, he got tired waiting and went down to the drug store and got his own cigarettes. "I wonder where that kid is," he declared angrily, and when Paul came in half an hour later, without the cigarettes, but with a great enthusiasm for a new wagon Johnny Jones had just been given for his birthday, he got a good scolding.

"Now give me the quarter I gave you," said his father holding out his hand.

"Oh, gee, I forgot that too," said Paul. "I gave it to Johnny's sister to hold so I wouldn't lose it while I took a ride. I'll run right back and get it."

"Paul," called his mother from the kitchen, "stop at Aunt Mary's when you go past and ask her for that new pajama pattern she promised me. Don't forget."

"No," promised Paul, darting away.

In half an hour he came in breathlessly. "Here's your quarter, Dad."

"Lay the pattern on the piano," Paul. My hands are all over flour."

"What did you say, Mom?" asked Paul hurrying into the kitchen.

"The pattern! Don't tell me you didn't get it. For goodness sake, child, haven't you any head at all? You'll wear out your heels trying to save it. Go right back and hurry. She's going away and I won't get it. Run!"

In about two minutes, Paul was back. "What was that funny name you said, Mom? What kind of a pattern did you say?"

"Pajama! Pajama! She knows even if you do forget. Scott!"

"I don't know what we're going to do with that boy."

Paul's mother and father wagged their heads helplessly.

All they need is for someone to tell them that they were exactly like Paul when they were little.

All children forget.

Household Hints

APRON POCKETS

Put two big pockets on every work apron. They save many steps. Use one for things to be put away. Save the other for scraps. This leaves your hands free to work with.

NOVELTY BUNS

Now that cold weather approaches, hot breakfast breads are in order. The same dough makes infinite varieties. For a change try a little ginger and chopped dates instead of raisins, along with cinnamon rolls. Tiny clover leaf rolls, baked in muffin tins may have poppy seeds atop them. Use candied citrus fruit peel inside folded Parker House rolls.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE Tinymites were tickled pink. Said one of them. "Well, just to think that we should meet the funny man who rules the skies above." Then to the man another said, "Oh, Mister, kindly go ahead and take us on a long, long trip. That's something we will love."

"All right!" the small man said. "First I will float this cloud high in the sky. You wonder how I'll do it? Well, just watch and you shall see. The clouds obey what I say, and we will soon be on our way." He clapped his hands and shouted, "Rise!" The Tinymites yelled, "Wheel!"

Up, up the cloud went. My, what fun! The promised trip was now begun. The Tinymites sat still in their boat and never said a word. The funny man sat right nearby, with his balloon still in the sky. The cloud kept moving faster, almost flying like a bird.

Soon Scotty said, "I'd like to know just how far up we're going to go. Suppose we hit the sky of blue. What's going to happen then?" The Sky Man answered, "Don't you fret. That's further than we'll ever get. I'll promise you no harm will come. I like you little men."

All of a sudden Scotty cried, "Oh! There's the moon!" Then Carpy sighed. "I've often heard about him. I just wish that he'd come near." Real soon this simple wish came true. The Moon Man shouted, "Howdy do!" He drifted up beside the boat and added, "Have no fear."

"Oh, can I take a ride on you?" "Would be a dandy thing to do," said Carpy. "I have watched you as around about you've soared." This made the brilliant Moon Man grin. And shortly he stuck out his chin and said, "Why sure you can. My lad, I'm ready! Hop aboard."

(Climb on a ride with the Moon Man in the next story.)

Gay Costumes For Dark Days

BY BETSY SCHUYLER
NEW YORK. Even if the last of the leaves has lost its gorgeous tints, costumes make outdoor sports extremely colorful lately.

Many brilliant outfits at the last of the United Hunts at Belmont park were bluer than the sunny skies overhead. Mrs. William Thaw is one sponsor of blue who sets off the bright Chanel tone quite as well as it sets her off. She wore an irregularly brimmed small hat of this tone, topped a lovely blue wrap, sable banded.

FURS IN WIDE VARIETY

At the West Hills racing meet the variety and uses to which fine fur has been put this season could not fail to make a dent on one's consciousness.

Mrs. William Deering Haives grey kasha duvetone coat had a scarf of shaved goatskin collar. Mrs. Harry Cushing, 3d, had on a gorgeously lovely new blonde caracul coat cut on ample lines, and with good-looking striped kasha, in tawny tones that looked fine with her gorgeous hair. For an original touch, her cute scarf was made of the striped kasha that lined her coat. But Kathleen Vanderbilt always had a way of being original in her chic!

WHAT THEY WORE

Katharine Todd wore a black suit, with hip-length jacket that was positively luxurious in its rich natural lynx shawl collar and deep cuffs. Mrs. Oliver Olcott is another who prefers lynx, as a smart collar testifies that points down in the back like a cape on a lovely beige coat she wears. Fox seems to have lost its social superiority, except it rears its lovely silvery head to fashion a collar as it does in a top-coat of tweed Mrs. C. Perry Beadleston wore to the meet.

From races to formal balls, it is noticeable that this is the dressiest year since the war. Informal dances, even, bring out stunning things.

The opening of the new Club St. Regis was amazingly gorgeous, with Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt dazzling in black and silver sequins; Julie Shipman charming in a fairy-like soft chiffon gown of pink; Mrs. William May Wright chic looking in a beautifully molded gown of red satin.

Lace gowns predominated at this week's Luncheon Club at the new smart Lombardy, black lace preferred. Mrs. Carroll Draper, hostess, wore a smartly cut one of fine black lace. Fine jewelry and much color characterize the opera costumes this season. Every night the Golden Horseshoe has its quota of smart folks.

Mrs. James W. Gerald looked handsome and queenly one night, in American beauty satin, with long lines and a chic décolletage. Mrs. Michael Paterno proved the chic and beauty of ostrich plumes in one chiffon gown she wore, with its skirt muchly trimmed with them. There, too, Mrs. James B. Duke wore three of the handsomest diamond bracelets, "Met" goes have ever gazed at.

SMART DRESSES FOR "FIRST NIGHTS"

Several theater "first nights" with tickets from $20 a pair and up—such as Noel Coward's "Year of Grace," have been the occasion of smart dressing. Mrs. Allen Gouverneur Wellman wore a lovely orchid and deep purple evening ensemble, a blue and purple velvet, the wrap purple lame, velvet lined. Mrs. Walter Chrysler sponsored white, in a diaphanous chiffon one with trailing panels and whatnots, pointing to a longer line all around. Her pearls were magnificent.

White holds its delicate, charming place in the hearts of many women. At a recent party for Somerset Maugham, Mrs. Jackson Crispin was a picture in a crisp frock of white tulle. Even her sumptuous wrap was white, either satin or velvet, I forget which, but so scintillating embroidered in crystals that it didn't matter what the material was.

PRINCESS THEME IS POPULAR

The princess theme seems to be increasing its popularity for evening gowns. Mrs. Oliver B. Jennings sponsored it in a red gown that was immensely stunning in cut, color and soft fabric. But Mrs. Jennings is one of those ever chic women. At the West Hills meet one couldn't help staring her out for her smart appearance. From her turbaned head to her pumped-out feet she was so eminently correct. Her tweed and kasha jacket ensemble was so smart—and such pretty browns. The frock simulated a vest in its front cut, and the jacket was lined with the tweed which turned back to make little cuffs and notched lapels.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST Grapes, cereal, cream, surprise golden rod eggs, extra toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Clear bouillon, toast sticks, onion dumplings, apple sauce, cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked canned salmon, potatoes au gratin, buttered brussels sprouts, carrot orange and apple salad, squash custards, milk, coffee.

The woman in the country may find it convenient to substitute cabbage or cauliflower for the brussels sprouts suggested in the dinner menu. This change can be made without affecting the balance of food value in the meal.

ONION DUMPLINGS

Four large white onions, 4 table-spoons cold chopped meat, 4 table-spoons bread crumbs, tomato catsup, 1 cup flour, 2 table-spoons shortening, 2 table-spoons baking powder, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, milk, or water, 1 cup sifted canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 slices bacon, 1 table-spoon grated cheese.

Peel onions and simmer until tender but not broken. Cool. Remove centers and chop. Use part of the chopped centers with the bread crumbs and meat to make a stuffing for the onions. Add enough tomato catsup to this mixture to make moist. Fill onions with stuffing. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Work in shortening and cut in enough milk or water to make a soft dough. Roll to one-half inch thickness on a floured molding board and cut in four squares. Put an onion in the center of each square and wrap the dough around it. Place in a baking dish and bake in a hot oven until brown. In the meantime cook bacon until crisp. Chop very finely with remaining onion from centers and cheese. Add with sugar to sifted tomatoes and bring to the boiling point. Pour hot over dumplings and serve.

FASHION HINTS

SCARF RING Chic women no longer knot their scarfs. There are colorful metal, crystal, gold, silver, ivory now marketed through which the scarfs ends slip easily.

FLAT BOWKNOTS

The smartest bowknots now are the flat ones, like those on sports hats, applied flatly. A black satin frock has flat bowknots of black lace, edged with a satin, down the side front closing, like frogs. The cuffs have three each, the last one almost elbow high.

THE NEW Saint Sinner. By Anne Austin

Crystal Hathaway had no real plan in mind when she accosted the young Mexican farm-laborer at the stile between the Jonson and Grayson farms. Her only conscious thought was that here, miraculously, was at least a recognizable version, in the flesh, of the phantom she had created in her too-active imagination, to console her loneliness.

"Please, I'm afraid I'm lost," she began prettily, fluttering her white hands and her mascaraed eye-lashes. "Can you direct me to the interurban station? I live in Stanton, and want to return there."

The young Mexican flushed and shuffled from one foot to another. Crystal had time to note, unfavorably, his cheap, horribly blue ready-made suit, his bright pink shirt, and his bright-blue tie. But he was good looking, almost as good looking as the "Pablo Valencio" she had made up.

"Si, Senorita. I no speak English good. Cars that way," and the Mexican boy pointed toward the interurban station only a field's length away. His black eyes, made deep and romantic by extravagant lashes, flicked an apologetic glance at her, as his olive cheeks flushed darkly.

"He admires me," he's thrilled at my speaking to him," Crystal told herself, half-ashamed and half-delighted. Aloud, she said, in a fluttering voice, and with one white hand to her breast, "Thanks so much, and could you tell me just one thing more? Are there any vicious bulls in these pastures? I know I sound silly, but I'm horribly afraid of bulls."

"Uno toro, very tame," the young man said. "But please, I take you to come to se habia?—interurbano, so bad toro no scare. Si, senorita?"

Crystal was immensely pleased

"What is your name?" Or how do you say it in Spanish? Crystal asked when the little box of a station was looming too near.

The boy smiled, gave her a quick shy glance out of those romantic eyes of his. "In Spanish, I say, 'Como se Llamo?' Yo me Llamo Pablo Mendoza."

"Not Pablo!" Crystal cried. "Oh, this is too much! It's fate looking out for me." But her last words were not meant for Pablo Mendoza's ears, though he heard them and looked politely puzzled. "My name is Crystal Hathaway," she reciprocated, then could have bitten her tongue out. Cherry would ask him if he knew her; Cherry hadn't for a minute thought Nils was joking. "But Pablo, there is one thing I beg you to do for me! Will you please?"

Pablo swept his fat to the ground in a gesture that the hero of "Blood and Sand" might have envied. "Senorita, for you, I do anything!"

"He is a darling and I do believe he has fallen in love with me. Of course I'd never dream—To Pablo Mendoza she said earnestly: "Please do not tell anyone, anyone in the world that you saw me or know me. Will you do that for me, Pablo?"

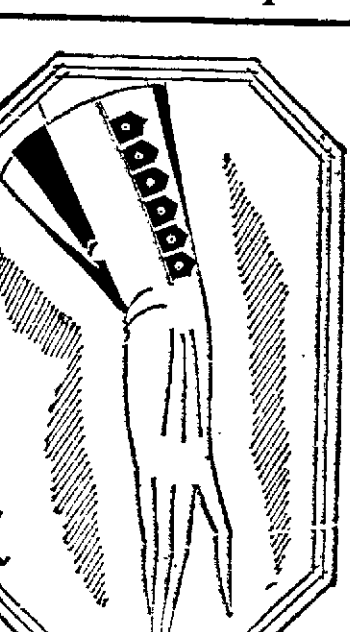

"Si, senorita. Yo comprendo! But I see you again? Si?" eagerly.

WHIRLWIND

BY ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SYBIL THORNE, home from a ghastly honeymoon, is living with her mother in Boston. Nobody knows Sybil is married except MABEL BLAKE and Mabel's fiancé, JACK MOORE. Sybil married RICHARD EUSTIS in Havana after a five-day courtship at sea. The marriage lasted two weeks. Sybil, after learning of her husband's unbecomingly infidelity returned to Boston with Mabel.

CRAIG NEWHALL, her old sweetheart, meets her at the pier, but his manner is strangely distant and Sybil wonders if he could know anything of her romance. She is wretchedly unhappy because of her tragic secret, and also because of the recent death of her father and the marriage of her brother, TAD to VALERIE WEST, a frivolous and selfish little debutante.

MRS. THORNE, who is also heartbroken, takes up psycho-analysis at Valerie's suggestion and gets a new outlook on life. Valerie, in one of her tantrums, flings from the room because Sybil and Tad seem unappreciative of her efforts on their mother's behalf. Mrs. Thorne, always apologetic for Val, suggests that maybe she is going to have a baby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

Sybil laughed shortly. "Not a chance," she opined. "Valerie wasn't born yesterday."

Mrs. Thorne blushed painfully. "You shouldn't say things like that," she reproved her daughter mildly.

"Who started it?" demanded Tad and catching her to him, kissed her roughly and laughed at her discomfort. "If Mother's got her set on a grandchild, I guess you'll have to get married, Sib."

Across his mother's head he winked broadly. "A girl ought to be willing to do that much for her poor old mother."

Mrs. Thorne pushed him gently from her. "Freshie!" she murmured in the fashion of her girlhood and slapped him with a pink rose.

September was hot in Boston that year. Quiet, with hardly a breath of air; and the heat rising in little puffs from the cobble stones.

After school small boys swam in the Frog Pond and grownups patronized the swan boats. Firemen sprinkled down the streets. And the newspapers chronicled the temperature in screaming headlines, with lists of prostrations in red print. Mrs. Thorne felt the heat painfully.

"If you'd had sense enough to stay at Wianon!" Sybil reproached Valerie.

"That's right—blame it on me." "Well, you dragged Mother home."

"Oh, of course—it's all my fault." The girls had stopped speaking, when Valerie decided to visit friends in New Haven.

"You'll be glad enough to be rid of me," she remarked which was so true that Sybil refrained from comment.

Tad was to make a western trip on business. "And when I get back," he declared firmly, "Val is going to look around for a place of our own. It's an awful imposition—staying here. Val doesn't realize, of course—but Mother's not so young as she used to be."

It was Sybil who packed his bags and sewed his buttons on and drove him to the station when he went away. Valerie had an engagement that evening to play bridge for Connecticut.

It was lonely for Sybil when she and her mother were there alone, since Craig had more or less effaced himself and Sybil was rather avoiding her old crowd.

Craig had declared himself quite definitely. "I don't like being a footstool," he told her. "And I'm all through both-ering you, Sybil. I guess maybe you've found my protestations annoying. You know I love you. I'd do anything for you. But I don't seem to know how to make you care for me. So I'm going to drop out of the picture for a while."

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," she parried lightly, half glad of the relief of promised solitude.

"So I've noticed," he retorted, "fonder of the other man." She wondered if there was any significance in the remark.

"If there's ever anything I can do for you," he offered. "Oh, Craig!" she protested, "don't be silly."

"Well, I just wanted you to know," he insisted awkwardly. "Any time you want me, let me know."

After that she saw him infrequently and missed him more than she had thought possible. Occasionally he sent flowers and a box of candied fruits to Mrs. Thorne, who was pleased that he remembered her preference. Munching a sugared pineapple or succulent pear she would contemplate Sybil gloomily even he would not remark. Craig had often told her violet was his favorite color. She slipped a long string of amethysts about her neck and fastened gleaming quartz, fashioned like grapes, in her ears.

Across the candle-lit table Craig bent toward her desirously. It was nice and cozy, sitting across from each other like that. Impulsively she reached for his hand and brushed it lightly across her lips. He smiled contentedly and pushed her cheek, then gravely lighting a cigarette, studied her remotely through clouds of smoke.

that meant, but apparently it was clinic for women—the most depressing, distressful women.

They sat about on benches, their damp clothes odoriferous in the unpleasant warmth of the place. It was raining out, and slushy, and some of them had left rubbers on the registers.

Now the rubbers smelled, and their cheap furs reeked with the loathsome smell of wet dyes. Children played about their knees, clinging to their skirts. They were unhappy, frightened looking children with running noses and ugly, misfit clothing.

Mabel looked up from the desk where she sat before a great card index. A woman who had been crying softly turned away, and Mabel wrote on a little card and inserted it in the index.

"Next Thursday then, Mrs. Brennan," she said. "And you mustn't be frightened."

Then she saw Sybil standing uncertainly in the doorway, her eyes shifting from one frowny, wretched creature to another. In a second Mabel had crossed the room, her white apron blowing out behind her like a starched sail. She threw her arms around Sybil and kissed her on the mouth.

"Sybil Thorne! I haven't seen you for ages. Only this morning I was saying to Aunt Emily, 'I simply must phone Sib—I don't know what she'll think of me.' My dear, I'm glad to see you. What an adorable jacquette. Sit down, honey. I've forty people waiting for me—but let 'em wait! What's the news, Sib?"

Sybil proffered her package. "I've been intending to get down with this for ages."

"Oh, my dear, it's lovely—perfectly exquisite!"

Mabel handled it rapturously. "I never saw anything so beautiful."

"Well that's not all that brought me down," admitted Sybil, and glanced apprehensively toward the X-ray room. "Can anyone hear us, Mabel?"

"Not a soul, dear. What's on your mind?"

"I'm going to have a baby."

The night gown slipped from Mabel's fingers, and all the joy in her good, plain face turned to misery.

"I went to the doctor's yesterday. Next May, he says."

Sybil turned, suddenly faint, toward the window, and when Mabel had opened it, she leaned on the sill. Spasmodic dry choking and horrible sounds came from her throat. She threw her arms over her face, to stifle the noise she made.

"It wouldn't be so bad—if it—"

She could not say it.

There were tears in Mabel's eyes, but Sybil's were hard and dry.

"Don't dear," she cried. "It will be all right."

Sybil shook her head. "It's—it's awful!" she gasped. "I hate him, Mabel—I hate him! His baby..."

She stood with her back to the window, and her head against the glass, moving it restlessly. Her eyes were wild and hunted.

(Sybil and Mabel prepare for Christmas at the Settlement House. And Sybil, her heart softened, discovers that she does not hate Richard's child. A new glimpse of Sybil in the next chapter.)

Autumn followed on the heels of Indian summer; and November was cold and drear and gray. Dead leaves whirled in dusty spirals and a shiver as she set out one afternoon to call on Mabel at Wester House.

Jack was home again and Mabel had her ring now. Not the conventional engagement ring at all but a delicate platinum circlet, set with sapphires. With it she would wear her wedding ring, like a guard. And later Jack would give her a twin band, set with pearls. Sapphires—diamonds—pearls—it was the very latest idea. They were to be married in the Spring.

Sybil was carrying a white tissue package, tied with satin ribbons. A nightgown of knife-pleated chiffon in palest flesh, with pink satin roses peeping through the sheeriness of it. Her engagement gift to Mabel. And, primarily, her excuse for intruding on a busy Wednesday afternoon.

The telephone operator directed her to the third floor. Mabel was clinic director of a place called the G. Y. N. Sybil did not know what it was, but apparently it was clinic for women—the most depressing, distressful women.

They sat about on benches, their damp clothes odoriferous in the unpleasant warmth of the place. It was raining out, and slushy, and some of them had left rubbers on the registers.

Now the rubbers smelled, and their cheap furs reeked with the loathsome smell of wet dyes. Children played about their knees, clinging to their skirts. They were unhappy, frightened looking children with running noses and ugly, misfit clothing.

Mabel looked up from the desk where she sat before a great card index. A woman who had been crying softly turned away, and Mabel wrote on a little card and inserted it in the index.

"Next Thursday then, Mrs. Brennan," she said. "And you mustn't be frightened."

Then she saw Sybil standing uncertainly in the doorway, her eyes shifting from one frowny, wretched creature to another. In a second Mabel had crossed the room, her white apron blowing out behind her like a starched sail. She threw her arms around Sybil and kissed her on the mouth.

"Sybil Thorne! I haven't seen you for ages. Only this morning I was saying to Aunt Emily, 'I simply must phone Sib—I don't know what she'll think of me.' My dear, I'm glad to see you. What an adorable jacquette. Sit down, honey. I've forty people waiting for me—but let 'em wait! What's the news, Sib?"

Sybil proffered her package. "I've been intending to get down with this for ages."

"Oh, my dear, it's lovely—perfectly exquisite!"

Mabel handled it rapturously. "I never saw anything so beautiful."

"Well that's not all that brought me down," admitted Sybil, and glanced apprehensively toward the X-ray room. "Can anyone hear us, Mabel?"

"Not a soul, dear. What's on your mind?"

"I'm going to have a baby."

The night gown slipped from Mabel's fingers, and all the joy in her good, plain face turned to misery.

"I went to the doctor's yesterday. Next May, he says."

Sybil turned, suddenly faint, toward the window, and when Mabel had opened it, she leaned on the sill. Spasmodic dry choking and horrible sounds came from her throat. She threw her arms over her face, to stifle the noise she made.

"It wouldn't be so bad—if it—"

She could not say it.

There were tears in Mabel's eyes, but Sybil's were hard and dry.

"Don't dear," she cried. "It will be all right."

Sybil shook her head. "It's—it's awful!" she gasped. "I hate him, Mabel—I hate him! His baby..."

BAKER TO FURNISH MUSIC PIECES TO CHURCH SCHOOLS

Offer of Conservatory Head Is Accepted by Superintendent's Club

The Church School Superintendents club voted to accept an offer made by Dr. E. L. Baker of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, to furnish pieces of music to the various departments of the different Sunday schools in the city, at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. Plans for the church census and regular business matters also were discussed.

Three topics were presented. The leadership training school was presented by Mrs. E. F. Stallman, superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school. Other topics regarding Sunday school music and training courses were discussed by Dr. Baker and C. O. Davis. Two plans for a training school were voted on, one to have a school similar to last year with classes on five successive evenings, two periods each evening, and one a school of five weeks with classes one night each week. The vote was evenly divided on the two plans and will be reported to the Fox River Valley Ministerial association at its next meeting.

The Rev. E. F. Franz of the Reformed Sunday school and president of the Ministerial association presented the plan which the ministers are working on for the church census. A committee is to be appointed by Dr. Denyes to cooperate with the Ministerial committee to secure a director to organize and take charge of the census.

HURRY ROAD WORK AS COLD WEATHER NEARS

Construction work on highways and buildings is being hurried with the approach of cold weather, and work on several projects has been suspended. Construction work of county trunk Z has been suspended for this season by the Valley Engineering and Construction company. The section of road between Appleton and Kimberly has been completed.

Work on highway 22 near Kiel, being paved by the Wilson Construction company of this city, has been hampered because of bad weather. Paving operations on highway 10 near Waupaca have also been hindered because of heavy snow which fell in that vicinity Saturday. Approximately 10 inches of snow was reported at Waupaca.

WOULD EXTEND RAILWAY INTO TIMBER DISTRICT

Washington—(AP)—Authority to construct a four and one-half mile extension of its present Marquette branch line in Gogebic county, Michigan, was sought Tuesday by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad in a petition before the Interstate Commerce commission. The railroad said it hopes to reach new timber areas by the extension before next August.

MICHIGAN HAS ITS USUAL LARGE CROP OF "CRAZY" HUNTERS

Republic, Mich.—(AP)—That the usual number of "crazy" hunters were among the nimrods who invaded the upper Michigan peninsula for big game last week is shown in the report that a man from lower Michigan whose name could not be learned, was "dehorned" in the woods in the Which lake district by several Republic men.

The man had tied a set of antlers on his head in order to attract deer. Another hunter who came here went into a Republic store and asked what a deer looked like. He admitted it was said, that he had shot at a tree that moved, thinking it was a deer.

WISCONSIN PROF IS FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Dr. George I. Kemmerer Believed to Be Victim of Cerebral Hemorrhage

Madison—(AP)—Dr. George I. Kemmerer, 49, professor of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin, was found dead in the bathroom of his home here late Monday afternoon. Henry Casson, acting coroner, believed death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Kemmerer was alone in his home at the time, his wife being ill at a local hospital. He was scheduled to go to Cleveland Sunday, and when he was not seen it was supposed he was out of the city. However, when the professor did not report to his classes Monday, two instructors went to his home and found Dr. Kemmerer's body.

The professor was born in Janesville, Feb. 25, 1879, and received his B. A. from Wisconsin in 1904, and an M. A. degree two years later. In 1908 Professor Kemmerer received the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

After receiving his doctor's degree, he taught at the New Mexico School of Mines until 1904 when he went to Carroll college, Waukesha. In 1923 he joined the Wisconsin staff. Dr. Kemmerer was an authority in analytical chemistry and had done much work in connection with the survey of Wisconsin lakes. At various times he was a consultant for the United States Bureau of fisheries.

MILLIONAIRES IN U. S. DECREASING

Number Drops from 30,517 in 1925 to 29,202 in 1926, Department Says

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C.—Uncle Sam's crop of millionaires dropped from 30,517 in 1925 to 29,202 in 1926, a complete audit made by the Treasury Department has today disclosed. It was the first recession in the year to year pyramiding of the nation's millionaires which has been going in since the World war. Wisconsin reversed the national order and increased rather than decreased its millionaires. It had 335 in the figures of a year ago.

But if common millionaires decreased, super millionaires did not. There are now fourteen super millionaires, men with incomes of more than $5,000,000 a year. A year ago the figures showed seven men in this class and two years ago there were three.

The super-millionaires shown in today's figures were: California 2; Illinois 1; Michigan 2; New York 4; Oklahoma 1; Pennsylvania 3; Texas 1. A year ago there were on the list, Illinois 1; Michigan 2; New York 2; Pennsylvania 1; Oklahoma 1. Thus the new $5,000,000 year income personage came two from California, two from New York, two from Pennsylvania and one from Texas.

Guessers here thought the Illinois super-millionaire was Samuel Insull, were sure the two from Michigan were Henry and Edsel Ford, picked the two Rockefeller at two of the four from New York and Lew H. Wentz as the one from Oklahoma, and were in doubt as to the others. In the multi-millionaire class—persons with incomes in excess of $500,000 per year, there were 947. Twenty-seven states harbored multi-millionaires and twenty-one states had none. The multi-millionaires were divided as follows: Arkansas 1; California 35; Colorado 4; Connecticut 8; Delaware 14; District of Columbia 4; Florida 12; Illinois 78; Indiana 16; Iowa 1; Kansas 1; Maine 6; Maryland 9; Massachusetts 22; Minnesota 3; Missouri 6; New Jersey 50; New York 502; North Carolina 4; Oklahoma 10; Pennsylvania 127; Rhode Island 3; Tennessee 2; Texas 9; Virginia 1; Washington 4; and Wisconsin 14.

WISCONSIN CAST 1,016,872 VOTES DURING ELECTION

Madison—(AP)—A record Wisconsin vote of exactly 1,016,872 ballots was cast in the presidential election of Nov. 6, according to official compilations made Tuesday by the secretary of state's office.

Of these ballots, Herbert Hoover polled 544,205, while Alfred E. Smith received 450,259.

Other presidential candidates received votes as follows: Varney, prohibition, 2,245; Thomas, Socialist, 18,213; Foster, Workers, 1,152; Reynolds, Independent Labor, 381. There 41 other scattering votes.

REVOKE LICENSES OF 615 DRIVERS

23 Motorists in County Lose Driving Permits During First 10 Months

Of the 615 Wisconsin automobile drivers who lost their licenses during the first ten months of 1928, 23 were convicted of traffic law violations in Outagamie county municipal court and their licenses revoked by the secretary of state on recommendation of Judge Theodore Berg, according to records in the office of William R. Kreiss, municipal court reporter.

Every one of the 23 drivers whose licenses Judge Berg recommended should be revoked were convicted of drunken driving. Twenty-two of the licenses were revoked for six months and one for one year. In addition each of these drivers were fined $50 and costs, the records show.

Following is a list of the months with the number of drunken driving convictions for each: January, 1; February, 2; March, 1; April, 4; May, 2; June, 6; July, 4; August, 2; October, none.

Seven of the drunken drivers were from Appleton and the balance were from the following places: Town of Ellington, 1; Neenah, 3; Kaukauna, 2; Iola, 1; Hortonville, 1; Little Chute, 1; New London, 1; Milwaukee, 1; White Lake, 1; Sherwood, 1; Kimberly, 1; and Laona, 1.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baumann and daughters, Mary Frances and Lucille and Nicholas Fox motored to Neenah on Sunday.

BOARD WILL CONDUCT EFFICIENCY SURVEY

Officials of Vocational School Approve Action at Meeting Last Week

The Appleton Vocational school board of directors last week voted to conduct an "Efficiency Survey" here within the next few months. The survey will be the third of three different types being conducted. The first was taken at Oakland, Calif., and was entitled the "Metropolitan set-up," and the other, a "day trades school survey" was held in Florida.

The survey here will be conducted around the part time system used in the local school, and will be of no cost to the local or state board. The surveys in California and Florida were conducted by the Federal board of vocational education.

The survey is to be taken by Dr. Charles Allen, special consultant of the Federal board, and Herb Heik, director of the local school. Mr. Heik and Dr. Allen were class-

WEEDS, BRUSH STILL APPEAR ON SOME ROADS

While path masters in some road districts in the vicinity of Appleton have finished cutting weeds and brush from the side of the road, other districts still need attention, according to rural mail carriers at the Appleton post office. The mail carriers pointed out that there is imperative need for cutting the brush at once because a snow storm with a heavy wind will block those roads where the brush has not been cut.

SCHOOL LIBRARY GETS ENCYCLOPEDIA SET

A 30-volume set of The Encyclopedia Americana has been placed in the Appleton high school library. This is the fourth new set of encyclopedias added to the library since last June. The others being the Encyclopedia Britannica, Times Encyclopedia and Gazetteer, and The New World Book.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE:

GO LIGHT ON LAXATIVES!

Everyone needs a laxative AT TIMES. But there's no need for making it a HABIT. If you have the habit, you can be rid of it in thirty days. Or less! And this is how:

The next time you go to take any strong cathartic—don't. Instead, take a little Cascarets. That's not a vicious drug, but the bark of a tree. The laxative made with cascara couldn't harm a child. It is, in fact, the one cathartic many physicians will approve for children. Gentle as it is, cascaring is just as thorough in cleansing the colon as the more powerful purges that actually sap a person's strength.

Proof that there's no habit from cascara begins the very day after taking. Instead of being clogged worse than ever, the bowels are more inclined to move OF THEIR OWN ACCORD. You may have to take cascara several times to establish regularity. But the times you need this gentle stimulus grow further apart. And you NEVER find you must increase the amount. Cascarets' ideal form is the candy Cascarets that please any palate, and you'll find them at the first drug store you ask.

CASCARETS
They Work While You Sleep.

45,000 WILL SEE BADGERS, GOPHERS BATTLE SATURDAY

Thistlethwaite Guards
Against Over-confidence
With Long Drill

Madison — (AP) — The Minnesota menace, the most serious Wisconsin has encountered this season, in the opinion of the coaches, is receiving consideration this week. Any hint of over-confidence has been promptly muffled and the Badger varsity, resting precariously on top of the western conference heap, went through a strenuous defensive scrimmage Tuesday night.

Mittened and in Parkas, the Badgers faced the disbanded "B" team, who executed the pats of Dr. Clarence Spears of Minnesota. The driving on and off-tackle play, around which the Gopher running attack is built, gained consistently, while passes that scouts report the Maroon and Gold use were completed often. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite hammered at the defense and worked on a method to stop the Minnesota attack.

Both H. Smith, fullback, and William Lushy, halfback, the brilliant sophomore stars, who were injured in the soggy Iowa game, were at practice and both engaged in the scrimmage. Earlier in the afternoon, the varsity worked on forward pass plays, and a signal practice emphasized their strongest game, which has been muffled by continued wet playing fields.

The day was cold, the temperature being far below freezing point, and as a result the Badgers solid footing the first time in more than a week. Special attention was paid to end play by Coach L. B. Allison, who pointed out to Gantenben, Casey, L. Smith, Davies and Warren, all of whom have been passed in Wisconsin play, that Minnesota has two outstanding wing men, Tanner and Havcraft.

Meanwhile, football was the topic in the city. Police were preparing to be able to curb any too strenuous celebration if the Badgers win Saturday, while tickets are sold out, more than 45,000 persons will see the game, and, according to George Lewis, director of ticket sales, a new mark will be established Saturday as far as attendance is concerned.

RASMUSSEN COACHES WRESTLING, BOXING AT LAWRENCE NOW

What's Coach Rasmussen going to do at Lawrence now that football's over, has been a question among Razz's friends. And for their benefit let us say that Razz has a full time job at the college and soon will start coaching, boxing and wrestling. This rumored he is mighty handy with his mits and a few years ago could step with many of the boys.

Later in the winter he'll have charge of indoor track work and while resting will direct a couple of college gym classes and look after his football team. He'll probably have a few days of spring practice to get ready for, too.

U. OF W. GRIDDERS MOST SUCCESSFUL

Marquette With Weak Team
Had Mediocre Season This Fall

Madison — (AP) — After football warfare since late in September the Wisconsin state football situation is a muddle one with only the university eleven, which is receiving national recognition as an outstanding team.

Wisconsin, except for its the game with Purdue, would be listed as a leading national title contender. As it is, the team is considered one of the nation's leading teams, with only Carnegie Tech and Georgia Tech ahead. The Badgers have defeated Notre Dame, Michigan, Cornell college, Chicago, Alabama and Iowa, and having only to bowl over Minnesota for a clear claim to the Western Conference championship and national recognition. The university team is easily the strongest in the state.

The lone other university eleven in Wisconsin, Marquette, has had only a partly successful season. The Hilltoppers have victories over Lawrence, Oklahoma A. & M., and Kansas, a tie game with Holy Cross, and have suffered defeat at the hands of Drake and Grinnell. The Golden Avalanche is weaker than it has been in several seasons.

In the collegiate race, Carroll college has just won its fourth alleged successive championship, but the record is marred by a scoreless tie played with Lawrence college last Saturday. The Pioneers have won from Northwestern, and Ripon in the state. Second place goes to Ripon place goes to Ripon, who hold victories over Beloit and Lawrence.

The Normal school league has had its complexion change and with the race over. Stevens Point and Superior State Teachers' college sit on the top of the heap with Oshkosh claiming a show-in. The two leaders have one tie marked against them, while Oshkosh has suffered two tie games.

A team, not held in either the university or collegiate race is the Wisconsin reserves which was undefeated in the state. The reserves hold victories over Northwestern College, Watertown, and Oshkosh state teachers.

BAY PACKERS WORKING OUT AT ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J. — With the pro football championship buzzing around pretty lively the Green Bay Packers are putting in a solid week of practice at Atlantic City in preparation for the game with the Pottsville Maroons in the Pennsylvania mining town this Sunday.

Aside from Eddie Kotal and Tom Nash the Bays came out of their grueling battle with the New York Giants in pretty good shape. Kotal has a bruised leg, while Nash's pet knee is causing some trouble. Both players, however, are reporting for practice.

The Packers are engaged in building up a defense by which they hope to stop Tony Letome, the Pottsville fullback. Large crowds gather daily to see the Badgers strut their stuff and the Atlantic City fans are kept busy watching all the stars that shine with the big Bay Blues.

Johnson to Hunt in South on Holidays
Columbia, S. C. — (AP) — Walter Johnson, newly signed manager of the Washington American league team, will hunt in South Carolina during the Thanksgiving holidays. He has accepted the invitation of Frank R. Ellerbe, former big league baseball star, and his brother, Earl R. Ellerbe, a member of the state railroad commission, to bring his guns down for a three day sortie on small game in Marion and Dillon counties.

ST. JOSEPH GRIDDERS
PRACTICE TUESDAY
St. Joseph Junior High school griders were out Tuesday evening for the first time this week and despite the chilly air went through a long workout on fundamentals. The youngsters don't know who they'll play this week, last Sunday's postponement making several changes in the schedule a necessity. Indications are now, however, that the game will be with Kaukauna instead of Green Bay as originally scheduled. The youngsters were supposed to meet the Kays last Sunday but the game was postponed.

THREE BROTHERS TOGETHER
Three brothers are playing in the same football team at Tacoma, Wash. They are Albie, Doug and Ed James, with one of the semi-pro teams in that city.

PRACTICE WITH WET BALL
Officials at New York University often wet the football for the men. The practice is in order to get them accustomed to handling a slippery ball.

"Famous First Ladies"

With the administration of President Grant, the White House had recovered from the gloom cast over the mansion during the tragic residence of the Lincolns. The inauguration ball was held in the new wing of the Treasury Department and many ladies fainted in the throng that attended. The picture of Mrs. Grant, above, is from a photograph.

Mrs. Grant's weekly audiences were enjoyable affairs, visited by women from many classes, workers as well as patricians.

Mrs. Grant showed great interest in women's suffrage, which was then becoming an important question. There were many debates.

The Grant administration became famous for brilliant affairs. In those days the average state dinner cost about $700, and special dinners to distinguished visitors cost twice that sum. Among the noted guests were Prince Arthur of England and the Grand Duke Alexis. The dignitaries and their ladies wore gorgeous costumes.

CREDIT CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT KAUKAUNA

Harry F. McAndrews, Attorney, Is Elected Manager of Association

Kaukauna—Kaukauna merchants have organized a Kaukauna Credit association, and only a few more details remain to be finished and the organization will be fully established. Harry F. McAndrews, local attorney, was named manager of the association.

The purpose of the association, defined by Mr. McAndrews, is "to raise the credit level of the city, which at the present time is very low. It does not aim to curb credit, except among folks who have shown by their attitude that they do not care to pay debts."

The organization will be incorporated as a non-profit sharing corporation, under the laws of Wisconsin. The charter will be applied for within the next few days.

Practically all merchants and professional men of the city are members. Each member must obtain shares in the organization and turn in data on all credit accounts. The credit customers will then be rated.

"The system will not in any way affect the good customers and help a young man who is likely to forget to pay his bills promptly," said Mr. McAndrews. "It will eventually rid the city of the undesirable credit people."

EVANS COPS HONORS IN CITY BOWLING LEAGUE

Kaukauna—Earl Evans rolled high single and high total scores in the City Bowling league on Hilgenberg alleys Monday evening, topping the pins for 214 for high single and a total of 583.

Van's Dairy team won three straight games from the Molochs Machines, both teams rolling high scores. The Electricians lost two out of three games from the Kaukauna Lumber company. The Moloch Foundry took three straight games from the Kaukauna Quarry.

FEW SEEK GAMES WITH GRID SQUAD

High School Team Still Has Two Open Dates Left for Next Year

Kaukauna—Kaukauna high school's football team has copied the Northwestern Interscholastic league championship for two consecutive years and has gained such a reputation that it is beginning to find it hard to get games for next year, it was found when Coach Elmer Ott and Principal Olin G. Dryer attended the coaches' meeting at Green Bay last week to work out next year's schedule.

The result of the matter has left the Kaukauna football schedule with two open dates. So far there are six games scheduled. They are with Oconto, West Green Bay, Neenah, Sturgeon Bay, Two Rivers and Appleton. In order to be in competition for the league championship, a team must play five teams in the league. Up to date Kaukauna has only four league games scheduled.

The team under the leadership of Marvin Miller won the five conference games played this year against Oconto, Shawano, Menasha, Two Rivers and Sturgeon Bay. They lost a non-conference game to the Lawrence Freshmen, but five regulars were on the injured list and the game was played with substitutes. They ended up the season in great style by beating Appleton 10 to 0.

Appleton is the runner up in the Fox River Valley league, being beaten only by East Green Bay by a small score. East Green Bay won the championship. Seventeen seniors will leave the squad this year, which will leave Captain-elect Robert Groch with almost no experienced material for next year's team.

Kaukauna—All students banked in the local high school Tuesday to make a perfect record. The seniors received the honor banner for having the highest average per pupil for deposit, 23.7 cents per student. This gives them three points in the race for the thrift cup and two points behind the freshmen, who are leading with five points. The seniors banked $15.42, juniors $13.61, sophomores $10.32 and the freshmen $16.92. The total deposit for the school was $55.97.

POSTPONE MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHERS

Kaukauna—Meeting of the Parent-Teacher association, which was to be held in the high school Thursday evening, Nov. 22, has been postponed until Thursday, Dec. 13, it was announced Tuesday. The reason for the change is that the Legion Thursday Ball will be held Thursday and the high school Art Exhibit is also being held this week.
